TORCH ROW FLARES

COUNCIL officers have admitted they were too busy to attend a crucial workshop which could have seen Cannock selected as a host in the Olympic torch relay.

The route for the national tour ahead of the 2012 Olympic games was unveiled on Monday but residents were shocked to see Cannock not on the list with Lichfield and Great Wyrley.

District Council leader Councillor George Adamson said he was "disgusted" to learn officials failed to represent the Chase at the meeting last year.

"It is hugely disappointing for the people of Cannock who have been deprived of their chance to be a part of this once in a life time opportunity," he said.

"I just can't even believe the council took the decision not to put the Chase forward; I know so many constituents were excited about the prospect of being on the route but little did we all know we weren't picked because no one had attended such an important workshop.

Devoted

"I am disgusted this has been allowed to happen and shocked that more wasn't done."

But Tony McGovern, Corporate Director of Cannock Chase District Council, said no-one would miss out on the torch as it is set to pass through neighbouring districts.

"Expressions of interest in hosting the Olympic torch were required at a time when workload and resourcing implications at the council restricted the amount of officer time that could be devoted to the process," he said.

"During early 2010 when council officers would have had to attend workshops and complete necessary paperwork, a major funding bid was under way with Sport England and preparations were being made for the procurement of a partner for all of Cannock Chase's Leisure and Culture services; both vital to the provision of a lasting sporting legacy for the district and were therefore prioritised."

In Lichfield the mood following the torch announcement could not have been more contrasting after the city was named on the official route along with Streethay, Great Wyrley, Newtown and the National Memorial Arboretum in Alrewas.

Richard Lewis, president of the Lichfield Chamber of Trade, said it would put Lichfield on the map.

He said: "It's really great news for the city – a lot of people ask me where Lichfield is when I'm away and this will really help.

"We hope it will obviously come through the centre and visit the cathedral too."

Lichfield and Burntwood MP Michael Fabricant said he hoped people would catch "Olympic fever" and line the route to give encouragement to those taking part.

"I am particularly keen that local runners will be bearing the torch and I shall be writing to Seb Coe about this," Mr Fabricant added.

The torch will pass through Staffordshire and South Staffordshire on June 30, day 43 of the 70-day relay. South Staffs District Council leader Councillor Brian Edwards, said he imagined the torch passing through Great Wyrley and Newtown would become etched on the memory of those involved for many years to come.

Great Wyrley parish council chairman Kath Parry added: "This is going to be one of those events where local people can say 'I was there' and I'm sure that the entire village will make the world's most famous flame feel very welcome."

The torch, designed by Edward Barber and Jay Osgerby, was unveiled in June.

It is made from aluminium alloy and has a three-sided golden cone with a flame burning through its perforated shell.

Some 8,000 torchbearers will carry the flame, with the relay starting at Land's End on May 19 and finishing on the Olympic Stadium on July 27 when the games will officially begin.

Miss Staffordshire Natalie James looks for the EuroMillions winner

Beauty queen joins the hunt for jackpot winner

A BEAUTY Queen has joined the hunt for the person who has yet to claim a National Lottery jackpot.

Miss Staffordshire Natalie James is reminding everyone in the Cannock area to check their EuroMillions tickets as a £1million prize ticket has still not been claimed.

The 22-year-old from Lichfield was in Market Place last week to urge everyone to search for the ticket which was purchased in the Cannock Chase district for the draw on Tuesday, June 7.

The winning selection was MWC424302 and the ticket-holder has until 3pm on December 4 to make their claim.

For every EuroMillions line played, UK players automatically receive a millionaire raffle selection printed on their ticket.

Anyone who thinks they have a winning ticket can call 0845 910 0000.

Dismay as Maureen misses out on chance

A NOMINEE put forward to carry the Olympic torch through Cannock has spoken of her "disbelief" that the area will not host the iconic flame.

Maureen Freeman, chairman of the Friends of Cannock Park, was put forward by local residents following years of hard work, to bear the torch on behalf of the district in its UK tour next year.

But now the community ambassador claims "she doesn't stand a chance" of being chosen for this "truly unique" opportunity.

"It is absolutely unbelievable that the Chase is missing out and I don't for a minute accept the excuse from the council that there were more important things being dealt with," she said.

Perfect

"I really feel for everyone who lives in Cannock, it is a lovely place and people have worked hard to keep it this way. The Olympics would have been the perfect chance to show this off.

"It's hard to describe my utter disappointment and disbelief. I am shocked and upset not just for myself but for the people of the Chase.

"I don't think I have got a chance of being considered to hold the torch now. It was a huge honour and shock for me to be nominated and I thank all those that put my name forward. I am just sorry that the council didn't see what a huge boost to our town this would be."

Mrs Freeman added: "The news is starting to hit people now and I am deeply saddened this chance was taken away from everyone who lives here."

A list of 28,000 potential torchbearers has been received by Olympic organisers through the Moment to Shine campaign.

Names will be whittled down by 12 different judging panels who will select the 2,012 most inspiring people to take part, giving those nominated a one in 14 chance of being selected.

Nominees will be contacted in December, with official torchbearers due to be confirmed in February 2012.

In total some 8,000 people – including dignitaries, celebrities and sports stars – will carry the flame.

Decision over pay is delayed

A DECISION on whether any senior officer at Cannock Chase District Council will earn more than £100,000 in future has been deferred.

The council's pay adjustment and staff structure review committee met last week but no agreement was reached.

Once the commitee makes a decision, the council's cabinet has the final say. It is part of a salary review ordered by leader George Adamson. Chief executive Stephen Brown is currently the only senior officer on the payroll to earn more than £100,000, with a basic salary of £113, 473.

Another option is a flat-rate cut in salaries of between five and 10 per cent. Councillors have raised concerns that some officers may be being paid more than people in similar positions at other authorities.

As part of the review, they have requested a report detailing pay levels for senior staff over the past 10 years and a comparison pay table with councils in the region.

Savings from a 10 per cent cut are estimated at roughly £90,000. The council is also looking at streamlining officers' roles.

Spokesman Alastair Smith said: "They are not in a position to make a decision yet. We are not announcing any further details."

Rethink call on A&E closure

COUNCILLORS have urged the trust running Stafford Hospital to rethink its plans to close its accident and emergency department overnight.

Rugeley councillors fear people might face long journeys to hospitals in Walsall and Wolverhampton during closure periods.

The troubled hospital is in the midst of a staffing crisis and has only been able to keep its A&E open around the clock in recent weeks thanks to two Army doctors and four military nurses being drafted in.

Chairman of Cannock Chase Council's health scrutiny committee, Councillor Ann Bernard told a full council meeting that the hospital was facing "really difficult" times and said the 10pm to 6am closure was being discussed because of fears that standards could not be maintained.

Councillor Frank Allen said: "It is not on for people from this area to have to go to Walsall Manor and Stoke in the early hours."

Councillor Mick Grocott said Walsall or Wolverhampton would be a long journey for Rugeley patients. "Stafford is the ideal site for us," he said.

Ex-pupil tried to break into old school

A FORMER pupil broke into his old school in Norton Canes and caused thousands of pounds worth of damage, a court heard.

Shane Boddington, along with three other men, broke into Norton Canes Primary School in September by throwing a brick at a glass pane.

He was caught after he left some blood on one of the main fire doors and his DNA was matched.

He refused to name the others involved but told police he had been drunk when he did it and had not intended to steal anything.

Mr John Peel, prosecuting, said last week a teaching assistant had been in the school when they broke in at around 9.40pm, and the alarms started going off.

Damage

When the deputy head arrived they found doors damaged and also that the safe was tampered with, but nothing had been taken. In total, £2,065.41 of damage was caused.

Boddington, aged 20, from Elm Road, Norton Canes, admitted the charge of burglary with intent to steal on September 15 when he appeared before Cannock magistrates.

He was given an 18-week suspended sentence for 12 months. He was also given a community order for 12 months and told to complete a substance misuse course. He has to pay costs of £85 and compensation of £350.

In mitigation, Mr Mark Holden said Boddington had shown remorse.

Emergency call gives fire crew extra engine

AN EXTRA fire engine will be put into Cannock's new station to deal with a growing number of arson attacks across the town. Fire chiefs have been forced to draft in reinforcements after battling as many as 14 fires started deliberately in one day and 25 in a single week.

The engine will be at the new community station during school holidays. It will also be based at the Old Hednesford Road station at other high-risk times to relieve under-pressure firefighters when arson attacks soar.

Crews say they have dealt with an unprecedented number of attacks on grass and heathland in recent weeks, with Hednesford Hills, Huntington and parts of Cannock Chase near Rugeley and Hednesford named as hotspots.

In one week in September more than 25 fires were tackled with one engulfing a 100 square yard of the Hednesford Hills. One day in August alone there were 14 deliberately started fires in woodland across the town.

Extra crews had to be called in from neighbouring stations.

Area Commander for Staffordshire fire service Stuart Claughton told Cannock Chase Council last week that extra resources were needed and would be introduced next year because the town had become a "high-risk area".

"In one case on the Hednesford Hills a crew spotted kids starting fires and reported it to the police," he said. "Three were arrested but they were minors and could not be prosecuted."

'Brilliant' first year for store

A HOMEWARE store launched by Cannock charity Newlife has enjoyed a "brilliant" first year of trading.

The charity, which supports disabled children, also has a successful fashion store in the town. Newlife at Home, in Hemlock Way, celebrated its first birthday last month. It is located on the former Maymies nightclub site.

Decorative homewares and beds are its most popular items sold.

Profits help disabled and terminally ill children through Newlife Foundation for Disabled Children. Chief executive Sheila Brown said: "It's been a brilliant first year."

The store is open Monday to Friday from 11am to 7pm and Saturdays, Sundays and bank holidays from 11am to 5pm.

Rambling date

THE next walk by Chase & District Group Ramblers is this Sunday, November 13. It is a nine-mile moderate one at Brewood and walkers need to meet at Hednesford Bus Station Car Park, Victoria Street, for a prompt 9m departure. Contact walk leader Audrey on 01543 672958 for details.

Residents' tip-offs lead police raids

POLICE swooped on a Cannock street as part of a crackdown on thefts and burglaries in the county.

Officers searched properties in Mill Street, following tip-offs from residents concerned about crime and drug use in the area.

The police team was joined by officers from Staffordshire Fire and Rescue as well as staff from the drugs and alcohol support service.

An order was issued on one property preventing it from being used until work to address fire safety concerns was carried out.

The warrants were issued as part of Staffordshire Police's Operation Impact.

Chief Inspector Carl Ratcliffe said: "We will continue to focus on the problems in the area and to tackle those involved in crime in our community."

He added said: "With this action goes the reassurance to residents and businesses that there is no place for criminality or anti-social behaviour within the district and I will do what I can to address it."

Concern over stolen flares

FLARES that could kill if not handled properly have been stolen from an outhouse in Cheslyn Hay.

Police say they could be mistaken for fireworks and described the flares as "extremely volatile". One smoke flare and one distress flare were taken from the building in Glenthorne Drive between 10pm on Sunday, October 31, and 9am the following day.

Pc Ian Hubbard said: "These flares are extremely volatile and if they are activated they could seriously injure or even kill someone.

"We are concerned they may be mistaken for fireworks, and in the wrong hands they could have disastrous results."

Both flares are red and about 10in long and one and a half inches in diameter. They were in a black waterproof cover. Anyone with any information should call Pc Hubbard on 0300 123 44 55, quoting incident 311 of October 31.

Shop celebrates birthday

CUSTOMERS and volunteers at a charity shop in Heath Hayes marked its 10th anniversary with some special birthday celebrations.

A sale of books and items was held and birthday cake was given to customers at the International Aid Trust shop, Hednesford Road.

The Christian humanitarian charity works for needy people overseas and in the UK and has other shops in Chadsmoor, Hednesford and Pelsall, as well as across the country.

Midlands area coordinator Alison Cardy paid tribute to the unpaid volunteers and regular customers who have kept the shop going over the years. "The sale went well and it was a way to say thank you to the usual customers," she said.

"The few staff we've got work incredibly hard and we really do appreciate it."

Prizes including gift sets, plants, toiletries and toys were handed out to customers as part of the week-long anniversary celebrations.

International Aid Trust has ongoing appeals for shoeboxes, dried food and sponsored families and holidays.

Visit www.internationalaidtrust.org.uk for details, or call the Heath Hayes shop on 01543 272906 to inquire about volunteering.

Women's fitness centre open day

AN open day for women wanting to get fit is being held in Cannock this weekend.

The Energie Fitness Club, which opened in September, will be holding the day on Saturday (November 12).

The aim is to encourage more women wanting to lose weight and tone up to find out more about the club and how it can help.

The club, which is based on Hollies Park Road in the town, is aimed at middle-aged women, who tend not to go to, or feel comfortable, in the gym.

Club owner Wayne Goodwin, and manager Steve Baker will be on hand to answer any questions at the event from 9.30am and 1.30pm.

New application to build homes

TWO houses with detached garages are to be built in Burntwood under plans lodged with the council.

Developer Firstpost Homes Ltd has applied to Lichfield District Council following the refusal of planning permission of another application for the Rakes Hill site last year.

It was also turned down on appeal to the planning inspectorate.

Christopher Timothy, of CT Planning, representing Firstpost Homes, said in the application documents: "The proposed residential use is considered to be consistent with the surrounding land use.

"Each property is provided with a substantial rear garden."

Wildlife trail wins award

STAFFORDSHIRE Wildlife Trust has won an environmental award for its natural play trail.

The series of fun and natural features at its Wolseley Centre, Wolseley Bridge, between Rugeley and Stafford were awarded the sustainable tourism award in the 15th Stafford Borough Council Green Awards.

The trail, which opened in March and includes a shelter-building area, sound sculptures, climbing tree and web swing, has been designed for children with disabilities, as well as other youngsters.

The trail was funded by Staffordshire County Council's Aiming High for Disabled Children programme.

Trust southern education manager, Jo Olivant, said: "We are extremely happy that we have won the award."

The trust is holding coffee morning on Friday between 10am and noon to raise funds. The £1 admission fee includes a free drink. Locally-produced cakes, jams and plants will be on sale.

SmartWater scheme set to be extended

A BURGLARY deterrent scheme is being extended in Cannock after an initial trial proved to be a success.

SmartWater marks individuals' property with a unique chemical code which means items can be traced back to owners if they are retrieved after being stolen.

Cannock Chase Council, along with Staffordshire County Council, Staffordshire Police and Staffordshire Fire and Rescue Service, has so far introduced SmartWater technology to 85 homes in the district.

A further 755 households will now be offered the scheme in the next two weeks, while Chadsmoor Junior School will be the first school in Cannock to use SmartWater. It is being offered free of charge to areas which have high levels of burglary and theft.

Council leader George Adamson said he was extremely pleased that so many residents had already signed up to use SmartWater.

Bikes

"I hope that we have similar success with our second phase and can make it harder still for burglars to prey on our communities," Councillor Adamson added.

Pupils at Chadsmoor Junior School will have their bikes marked with SmartWater using a UV permanent pen.

Chief Inspector Carl Ratcliffe, commander of Cannock Chase District Local Policing Team, said: "The SmartWater initiative at Chadsmoor Junior School builds upon the excellent relationship that we have with the local schools.

"It is another good example of how we are making it difficult for criminals to operate in our area."

SmartWater, which has a 100 per cent conviction rate when used as evidence in court, glows under ultra violet light so that unique markings can be seen.

Councillor Robert Marshall, from Staffordshire County Council (back left), PCSO Jackie Dennis, of Staffordshire Police, and Cannock Chase Council leader George Adamson, with pupils Connor Hill, aged 10, Jordan Harvey, aged 11, and Katie Churchill, aged 10

New trade group set up in town

A NEW organisation has been formed in Hednesford to help revive the town's fortunes.

Hednesford Traders Association 2011 has been set up to represent the interests of local retailers.

Among its first steps to try to boost trade will be to revive a lottery that will replace one that was introduced over a year ago.

The constitution of the association was unanimously agreed at a meeting of traders in The Lightworks in the town centre and a management committee has been elected with Simon Orme as chairman. Other officers are vice-chairman David Greatrix, secretary Amy Jones and treasurer Stef Cunningham.

Mr Orme said they would begin work immediately to represent all traders and help the community.

"At the earliest opportunity, the newly formed committee will be looking to re-introduce a lottery which will benefit local community groups and will be appointing a communications officer," he said.

If any business in the WS12 postcode area would like to register their interest in joining HTA 2011 contact the secretary via e-mail at secretary@hednesfordtraders.co.uk

Delay over waste site extension

BOSSES of a recycling plant in Shareshill have applied for planning permission to carry on for another 10 years. Hollybush Recycling Centre converts organic waste from the district into peat-free compost.

It was opened in 1996 but four years ago Staffordshire County Council raised concerns that the operation had gone beyond what it was allowed to do.

In 2007 the council flagged up "unauthorised inert waste and wood recycling operations" at the site in Warstone Road,.

Councillors were set to make a decision last week on Jack Moody Ltd's application but have deferred it until December 1. They want to know more about the potential impact on traffic.

In a report, officers said the scale of the recycling and composting operations greatly exceeded the demand for the soil conditioner and compost produced on the two sites".

But they conclude: "There are also good reasons why planning permission should be granted. There are the benefits in terms of the management of waste and the fact that this is an important opportunity to place effective controls on the operations and to secure additional benefits through a legal agreement. On balance, it is considered that a 10-year temporary permission would recognise the investment already made."

Coffee time to aid Macmillan

CATERING students at South Staffordshire College's Cannock Campus are raising money for Macmillan Cancer Support by staging a series of coffee mornings.

Staff, students and members of the public can help themselves to a selection of coffees, teas and homemade cakes at Gordon's Restaurant, at the site at The Green next tuesday and Thursday (November 15 and 17) from 11am to 2pm.

There will also be a raffle and a 'guess-the-amount-of-coffee-beans-in-the-jar' competition to help swell the coffers.

Staff and students at South Staffordshire College have been active in generating cash for Macmillan cancer Support through various fundraising activities, including an annual charity craft fair and fun days.

MP's call for action on council homes system

THOUSANDS of people find themselves on the housing list in Cannock Chase at a time when others are earning six-figure sums and living in council homes, according to an MP.

Chase Conservative MP Aidan Burley said the Government should speed up efforts to sort out a system which currently allows those earning vast sums to live in subsidised housing.

The Government has revealed there are around 6,000 people in local authority homes paying subsidised rent with a combined income of more than £100,000 a year. Mr Burley said that is more than four times the average salary of people in Cannock Chase.

"People will be gobsmacked to learn that at a time where in Cannock Chase alone there are over 2,300 people listed on the housing register, with 164 of these marked as statutory homeless, these very high earners continue to take up valuable subsidised social housing."

Those homes should be used for the most vulnerable people in society, he said.

"It is only right that if these people wish to continue living in these homes they are made to pay full market rate," he added.

In his response to the Cannock MP, housing minister Grant Shapps made clear that every penny of the money raised from this scheme will go toward building more affordable housing.

Affordable

Mr Shapps, minister for housing and local government, said: "We estimate that there are about 6,000 households in social housing where the person named on the tenancy agreement and their partner have a combined income over £100,000 a year."

He said that was something the coalition Government intended to tackle through the Pay-to-Stay scheme which would see those on six-figure incomes who wish to stay in their properties pay more to stay there.

The scheme now under consultation will force those high earners in social housing to either leave or pay full market rate for the properties.

Club seeks members and poster designers

A YOUTH club which desperately needs new members has launched a poster competition to help raise its profile.

KONCAS (Kids of Norton Canes Activity Scheme) was recently taken over by new chairman John Preece.

He wants youngsters in Norton Canes to take advantage of the club's facilities.

Two winning posters from the competition will be displayed in schools in Norton Canes and at other spots around the village, while the winners will receive £25 in high street vouchers.

Mr Preece said the competition was the brainchild of secretary Jean Dyde, who had kept the club going in recent weeks.

Fantastic

"She's been fantastic in sorting everything out but we desperately need kids to start coming back to the club," he added.

"We've got all these great facilities but not enough people are using them."

Posters can be any design but must include the club's address – Unit 13, Jerome Road, Norton Canes Industrial Estate, Norton Canes – and the club name, either Junior KONCAS for seven to 11 year olds or KONCAS for 11-17 year olds. Opening times, which are 4.30-5.45pm on Tuesday for the younger group and 7-9pm on Monday for the older group, must also be included, as well as a space for future contact details and the fact that subs cost £1.

Finally, a list of the club's four main activities of an indoor sports court, arts and crafts, table tennis and a chill out area should be incorporated.

Contact Jean on 01543 450873, or Jane from Staffordshire County Youth Volunteer Service which is helping to run the scheme, on 07971 308394 for details on how to submit entries.

Tomatoes grown . . . at nursery

CHILDREN at a Cannock nursery discovered the benefits of 'growing their own', and are now harvesting the fruits of their labour.

The little ones at Happy Tots, Orbital Plaza, started growing their own tomatoes earlier this year.

They have been taking turns to look after them

The children and staff have been growing them in the entrance to the nursery, where they received lots of sunlight, and all the children and parents could see the progress.

Manager Judy Kelly said: "The children have had fun growing, picking and eating the tomatoes.

"It's important that children understand that fruit and vegetables aren't just from a supermarket."

Jobless man swore at his neighbours

A FORMER Cheslyn Hay resident has pleaded guilty to harassing his neighbours by shouting abuse and playing loud music.

Jobless Gregory Howell, who used to live in Streets Lane, shouted swear words and abuse from his window at his elderly and frail neighbours and their relatives who came to visit them, Cannock Magistrates Court heard.

Mr John Peel, prosecuting, said the 25-year-old was excessively noisy at all hours of the day and night.

Rita Stanton, who is in her 70s, and daughter Jane Sloan, along with neighbour Nancy Frost, who is 79, made the complaint..

Mr Peel said Mrs Sloan visited her mother about three times a day as her health was poor but she was extremely distressed as her mental and physical health was being affected by Howell's actions.

Howell, now of Surrey Close, off Rumer Hill Road, Cannock, admitted last week harassment without violence. In mitigation, Mr Glenn Cook said there was no carpet in the flat – from where Howell had since been evicted – so the sound travelled badly .

He was bailed until November 25 for sentence.

Art event is a big draw

MORE than 900 people joined in the fun at the special Big Draw events in Lichfield last month.

Lichfield District Council's arts development officer, Celia Houghton, led artistic activities in Three Spires Shopping Centre.

Activities included drawing with wire, using drawing machines, and drawing large monsters. Customers at Lichfield Garrick's Green Room Bar and Cafe, Spark Cafe Bar. Munchies Cafe, Burntwood, also joined in with diners choosing from a menu of drawing activities, and then drawing their choice on the plastic table cloths.

The event was sponsored by county councillors Alan White and Terry Finn, who contributed £645 through Staffordshire County Council's Members' Initiative Fund.

Harold White during his Army days

Tributes are paid to D-Day survivor Harold

A VETERAN of the D-Day invasion who survived a German mine and kept railway tunnels and bridges working under enemy fire has died aged 92.

Harold White, who was also known as Elmer, was born in Hednesford and worked in the mines where he developed skills in underground engine systems. He worked as a bricklayer and scaffolder before joining the Army in October 1939. With the regiment of Royal Engineers, he became a sapper in the 157 Railway Construction Company.

From 1940 to 1944 he was engaged in many projects. In London he was involved in the dismantling of a Thames bridge that was eventually used to cross the river at Nijmegen during the Battle of Arnhem. On his arrival in Caen during the D-day invasion of 1944, he repaired railway installations and supply tunnels and worked on bridges while continually under fire.

In Germany in 1945 his vehicle hit a landmine, severely injuring his leg.

Son-in-law Fred Thorneycroft, of Wombourne, said: "After some amazing surgery his leg and foot were saved from amputation but required a leg iron support and regular attention for the rest of his life."

Mr White was given an exemplary discharge in 1946. He and wife Rose had a son Peter, who died aged 11 in 1955. They went on to have two more children.

Mr White, of Alton Close Bushbury, Wolverhampton, died on October 18. He also leaves two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Squadron Leader dies at age of 92

A PENKRIDGE-born bomber navigator who survived three operational tours in the Second World War and went on to become an RAF squadron leader has died at the age of 92.

The funeral of Squadron Leader Kenneth Hodson took place last week in the village where he grew up. He died in a nursing home in Crewe on October 20.

Mr Hodson was one of three brothers whose father George founded the George Hodson and Son garage business in Penkridge. He trained as an apprentice engineer with the old Dorman company in Stafford. When the war broke out he joined the RAF volunteer reserve and trained at Trentham.

He originally flew as an observer on Blenheims and became a navigator and bomb aimer. His second tour of 25 operations was on Wellingtons and third on Wellingtons and Lancasters. He finished the war as a training officer in Egypt and met his first wife Eileen, a Wren, in Vienna where they married in a palace.

Mr Hodson stayed in the RAF instead of joining the family business, which his brother John went on to run. Another brother, Brian, died in the war.

Mr Hodson was awarded the OBE in 1960 and leaves two sons, John and Peter, daughter Elizabeth and seven grandchildren. "He had a fantastic life," said his son John. "He also wrote the story of his life – it ran to five volumes, but he did not want it published."

After Eileen died in 1994, Mr Hodson married second wife Joan.

Man loses appeal on drink drive sentence

A DRINK driver who killed a young friend when he lost control of his car during an early hours ride must stay in jail after losing an appeal against his prison sentence.

Samuel Montgomery was "showing off" behind the wheel when 21-year-old chef Daniel Reynolds died after a night out in Cannock last November, a court heard.

The 23-year-old had been drinking when he agreed to take his friend and two young women for a ride in his new Ford Fiesta car but smashed it into a tree at Haughton, near Stafford, and was jailed for five years.

At an appeal on Monday, Mr Justice Singh said: "This was not just a case of careless driving, it was a case of a young man who deliberately decided, having consumed excessive alcohol, to go out in the early hours of the morning with a group of his friends and, in effect, to show off his new car."

Montgomery, who admitted causing death by careless driving while over the drink-drive limit, was jailed at Stafford Crown Court in June. His lawyers said the sentence was too long but the Appeal Court found that there was nothing wrong with the sentence and dismissed the appeal.

Festive fair to raise funds

A CHURCH in Heath Hayes will be hosting a festive fair to help raise funds for the building.

Bourne Methodist Church, on Hednesford Road, will host the event on Saturday November 19, from 10am until 2pm.

Admission is free.

Traders raise concern over new supermarkets

A SURGE in supermarkets around Cannock is hitting town centre trade with the latest planned Tesco store leaving small shopowners concerned, according to a retail chief.

The supermarket giant's latest proposals for a Tesco Express has fuelled fears about shoppers being drawn away from traditional town centre stores.

Proposals for the new Tesco store and three other shops in Cannock will create 15 jobs. It will be stationed at the St Giles Hospice furniture store, off Stafford Road in Cannock and could open within a year.

The plans come after Tesco announced it will build an 80,000sq ft superstore as part of the £56million Hednesford Gateway development while Sainsbury's recently expanded its shop on the Orbital Retail Park, creating an extra 80 jobs, taking the payroll to 480.

A second Asda store opened in Lichfield Road in August, joining the company's Avon Road shop.

Uneasy

In addition to those developments there is a Morrisons store in Mill Street, an Aldi in Walsall Road and a Tesco in Heath Hayes.

Independent stores already struggling with shoppers tightening their belts feel uneasy about the plans for another supermarket, according to Cannock Shopping Centre manager Natal Chapman.

She said it was a "real concern" for traders and small shops. "From the town centre perspective there is a worry when there are new things opening outside of the centre," she said.

"Obviously for that area of Cannock it is going to help with the regeneration.

"But I do not think there is much loyalty and if the price is right that will attract people to go there – there is a real concern there."

Bosses at the proposed Stafford Road development say that work on the new units will start in the new year. The existing St Giles charity shop would be demolished to make way for two new single-storey buildings.

It's a full house as new bingo hall opens

The new-look Hednesford bingo hall, in Victoria Street

THE luck of the balls struck hundreds of residents who turned out to the launch of Hednesford's new bingo hall.

It was a full house at the hall, which opened on the Chase Gateway Redevelopment, in Victoria Street, last month.

Sitting just doors away from its former premises, members flocked to the launch fronted by the original co-founder of Hednesford Bingo, Ian Carter, who cut the ribbon during a special ceremony.

Manager Andrew Reilly who owned the former bingo club, said: "The opening has gone really well, everybody had a fantastic time and we have received a tremendous reception.

"The success of the club so far is going beyond our dreams, we have not only increased staff numbers but we now have an extra 2,400 members signed up, which is great news for everyone.

"I am so grateful to the local people for the support they have shown us in our new venture."

Free car parking in run-up to Christmas

FREE car parking will be rolled out across Cannock in the run-up to Christmas in a bid to boost seasonal trade in the town.

The privately-owned 60-space car park at High Green Court will be free from noon on all four Saturdays in December up to and including Christmas Eve.

Cannock Chase Council bosses have already decided to sacrifice up to £26,000 in order to help beleaguered shopkeepers by providing free parking at the sites the authority owns in the town on the two Saturdays prior to December 25.

For the past four years parking charges in Cannock and Rugeley have either been dropped or a minimal charge brought in.

A request from Rugeley Traders Association to increase the perk to cover more days has been turned down.

Star organist set to appear

Accident ruling on woman hit by motorbike

A HOUSEKEEPER who was hit by a motorcycle outside her place of work died as a result of a "tragic accident", an inquest heard.

Carol Cooper, aged 61, of Leacroft Lane in Churchbridge, Great Wyrley, had just got off the bus on Walsall Road and was crossing to go to Lakeside Residential Home at Newtown on February 9 when the accident happened.

An inquest found that she died of head and chest injuries. Andrew Haigh, coroner for South Staffordshire, recorded a verdict of accidental death.

Cannock Coroners' Court heard she may not have seen the motorcyclist, who was travelling between two cars, or she may have been distracted by some sweets on the ground. Phillip Steatham, aged 63, was riding the motorbike that hit Mrs Cooper. He had his lights on and was wearing fluorescent clothing.

His evidence stated: "It was dark but not totally. As I passed the Freemasons pub I was aware of something moving quickly to-wards me from the left hand side but I did not know what it was.

Time

"The next thing was that a woman was in the road and I was lying on the road. Due to the sudden nature of the incident I did not have time to sound my horn. She probably did not see me between two cars."

Pc Mark Mould, of Staffordshire Police's collision investigation unit, said: "It may be the pedestrian has not seen the motorist because the motorcycle was between two vehicles."

Sgt Anthony Richards said: "There is one unexplained circumstance at the scene. There was a packet of Rolos on the side nearest to the kerb and a single Rolo in the carriageway.

"We cannot attribute that to Mrs Cooper but it is possible to say that may have been a distraction to Mrs Cooper," he added.

Andrew Haigh, coroner for South Staffordshire, said: "This death results from a genuine tragic accident."

Golf day hits target

BLOXWICH Golf Club hosted a Cannock company's annual golf day in aid of Walsall Breast Cancer Care.

The event, on September 1 was enjoyed by 160 golfers and the amount raised was £4,260. It takes the total raised over the past four years to £22,000.

A spokesman for PVCu, based at Watling Street, Cannock, said the firm would continue to support the charity for years to come.

Fancy dress event at pub raises £2,000

A FANCY dress charity event at a pub near Cannock has raised up to £2,000 for the Motor Neurone Disease Association.

The Halloween-theme night took place at the Wheatsheaf, Laney Green.

It was hosted by landlords Rita and Tom Russell and about 150 people attended the bash on Friday, October 28.

John Trout, a MND sufferer and fundraiser said: "It was a fantastic event and the atmosphere was really great – a full house."

The majority of the money was raised through a professional auction.

Mr Trout said: "A bathroom piece set sold for £400, a bicycle sold for £210."

Rita Russell said: "The event went very well. We were supported by the local community and the donations were fantastic."

A cheque presentation will be made when a final total is known.

The pub is to organise another fundraiser next year.

Attempts made to cut crime

EFFORTS to reduce crime are being stepped up on a Rugeley estate that saw violent offences increase by almost a third in 2010-2011.

Western Springs, along with Chadsmoor and Springfields, are priority areas to reduce violence and acquisitive crime along with Cannock and Rugeley town centres.

Western Springs saw anti-social behaviour increase by almost a quarter with 29 incidents of street drinking and 19 neighbour disputes.

The increase in violent crime was mainly assaults with less serious injury. Domestic violence fell by 4.4 per cent.

Line dancing

LUNCH and line dancing at St Chad's hall, Chadsmoor, tomorrow (Friday) will aid Macmillan Cancer Support. It includes a raffle and a sale of books, cakes, toys, bric-a-brac and jigsaws and takes place from 12.30-to 3pm. Entry is £3.

A bugler plays at the service to dedicate the bench

A VETERAN of one of the fiercest battles of the Second World War has unveiled a bench in memory of his fallen comrades at the National Memorial Arboretum.

George Parry, who was immortalised in one of the most famous images of the conflict being led away by German soldiers, was joined by about 100 people for a dedication service at the arboretum in Alrewas.

Instead of presents for their 65th wedding anniversary, the 95-year-old and his wife Joyce, aged 94, asked for donations towards the bench which has been placed in The Staffords Grove.

Dedication

The grandfather-of-10, who served in the 2nd Battalion of the South Staffordshire Regiment, was part of Operation Market Garden – a huge Allied airborne operation designed to force German soldiers out of Holland, which took place on September 17,1944 and included the Battle of Arnhem.

Signaller Parry, then 27, was captured and photographed being led away at gunpoint. The bench, which cost nearly £700, has been inscribed with a dedication to fallen comrades.

Mr Parry said: "We were really pleased about how it went. It means a lot to me."

Inhalers recycled in Co-Op initiative

AN innovative scheme to recycle respiratory inhalers is now available in Cannock and Norton Canes.

The service is the first of its kind to be introduced to five Co-Operative pharmacies. The scheme was piloted in 40 stores over six months earlier this year and aims to dramatically reduce the environmental impacts associated with disposing of respiratory inhalers.

The trial period saved 6,000 inhalers from landfill and stopped 35 tonnes of carbon dioxide from being released.

Martin Wilson, Co-Operative pharmacy manager at Market Place, Cannock, said: "I'm delighted to be able to offer this simple yet effective service to my customers, and believe together we can make an important difference to our environment.

"As a responsible and ethical business, it is important to take a lead in sustainable initiatives like these."

Family charity trust delays fundraisers

FUNDRAISING plans have been put on hold by a new Hednesford-based trust after being told it could not be registered for Gift Aid for more than three months.

The Hibbs Lupus Trust was set up by the Hibbs family of Hednesford.

It is for people in Mid-Staffordshire affected by lupus – an incurable illness of the immune system.

But the trust is still waiting to be officially registered as a charity after being told by Her Majesty's Revenue & Customs (HMRC) that registering for Gift Aid will take 13 weeks.

Chairman John Hibbs said it was preventing them from hosting large-scale fundraisers. The decision was taken day after the family launched the trust.

Quicker

The group, which works in partnership with the Mid-Staffordshire NHS Trust, is also unable to set up a JustGiving page at the moment.

The 33-year-old, of Bakers Way, said: "It's really frustrating. It's very disappointing that applications are not dealt with quicker.

"The paperwork was sent off last week when we launched. When I rang them up, expecting to just be given a reference number, I was told it would take 13 weeks.

"It was shocking. We believe it's because there is a backlog of organisations applying."

The organisation had to send off a form to HMRC to register for Gift Aid, which increases the value of donations to charities by allowing them to reclaim basic rate tax. Mr Hibbs, who works as an IT analyst for npower, hopes to cycle 200 miles from Lupus Way, in Ellesmere Port, to Lupus Street, London, next June and said this was also delaying his fundraising plans.

Spreading the word about the trust are Viki Hibbs, who has lupus, her mother Carol Hibbs, Viki's brother John Hibbs and his wife Kate Hibbs

Along with his family, he has already raised more than £16,000 for the Lupus UK charity and the West Midlands Lupus Group.

He added: "I want to start fundraising as soon as possible and this makes it difficult.

"We have confirmation of someone who has got a place in the London Marathon next year and wants to fundraise for us but they can't set up a JustGiving page yet which makes it difficult."

Lupus causes the body's immune system to go into overdrive and starts to attack itself. There is no cure, and patients are likely to remain under medical care for many years.

Mr Hibbs started raising money for lupus charities after his sister Viki was diagnosed with the illness in 2008. To find more about the trust or to raise money, visit www.hibbslupus-trust.org

German ambassador pays tribute to fallen

THE German Ambassador is to attend a Remembrance service on Cannock Chase. The annual Anglo-German service takes place at the German War Cemetery on Sunday, November 13 at noon.

It pays tribute to servicemen who fought in two world wars and will be followed by a reception at the Haling Dene Centre in Penkridge. It is also a service of reconciliation and marks 66 years of peace between Britain and Germany.

The Remembrance Day service will be conducted by Pastor Peter Büttner of the Evangelisch-Lutherische Gemeinde of the West Midlands and the local Minister of the Methodist Church in Penkridge, the Rev Fiona Brown. The ambassador, Georg Boomgaarden will be present with some of his military staff.

The Crown will be represented by Dep-uty Lord Lieutenant, Sarah Elsom. The service will be accompanied by the Cannock Salvation Army Band and members of the public are welcome to go along.

Meanwhile Lichfield MP Michael Fabricant will lay a wreath on behalf of the Government at an Armistice Day service at the National Memorial Arboretum.

A service is being held at the arboretum at Alrewas for the 10.45am service next Friday. Armed Forces Minister, Nick Harvey, will also be present.

Hero dogs are remembered

Emma Beaman-Green, Watchman V and Greg Hedges

HERO dogs are to be remembered on Armistice Day in Cannock. A service will be held at 2pm tomorrow (Friday) to celebrate working dogs on the Cannock Chase Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB).

The service has been inspired by Freda, a dalmatian-type dog that was the New Zealand Rifles' mascot when the regiment was stationed on Cannock Chase during the First World War. She died in 1918 while the regiment was training on Cannock Chase, and is buried there. The service takes place at her grave, off Chase Road.

Emma Beaman-Green, assistant AONB Officer, teamed up with Watchman V, the mascot of 3 Mercian, the Staffordshire Regiment, and his handler Colour Sergeant Greg Hedges, to promote the service.

She said: "The loyalty of our working dogs is often forgotten."

Legion to celebrate 90 years

POLICE will be on the beat to help the Royal British Legion in Cannock celebrate its 90th anniversary. It forms part of Remembrance Day events and will also see officers organise an Honour Guard.

Events take place in Cannock town centre over the course of the weekend, starting tomorrow (Friday) with the standing of the first Honour Guard made up by members of the 116 Royal Military Police. The guard will stand at the cenotaph in the town centre and will change every hour.

The event will be held between 10am and 5pm on Friday and Saturday, and from 10-11am on Sunday.

There will be a collection point on Friday and Saturday for people to hand in comfort packs for troops.

All pain, but where's the gain?

THE news at the moment is very dire indeed. But as a socialist I always thought that the hallmark of a civilised society is how the people who could not look after themselves were looked after in a fair manner.

This coalition Government seems quite ignorant of the plight of the impoverished in society.

In fact they seem to take great pleasure in inflicting pain and misery on this section of the community. Remember Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher who stated there would be no gain without pain?

Well the electorate had all the pain but I cannot remember any gain. I believe that at the present moment is a rerun of that situation. We have seen church officials (priests) resigning because they cannot reconcile with what is happening. Countries brought down because of their economy.

The poorest have to pay while the amount of tax evasion by people who reside in the Cayman islands and have made their money in this country but are not willing to pay its taxes – and to cap it all the people that started the domino effect are still getting their bonuses. It seems an exceedingly fair country doesn't it?

Now's the time to return to old-fashioned morals

AS our children are running our poor police ragged, drinking and creating anti-social behaviour, our streets are awash with drug dealers and takers.

Now is the time to return to old-fashioned ways. We need to teach our children the difference between right and wrong from their first day at school, and bring back discipline without fear of litigation from irate parents. Society is now in danger of creating the next generation of thugs, if we do nothing about it now.

Cannock Chase has a vast amount of good children, but a lot of feral ones. Now is the time to return old-fashioned morals and discipline.

HELEN OF HEDNESFORD

Promises to protect green belt only go so far when price is right

IT IS fairly obvious that Councillor John Burnett and I will have to agree to disagree on a number of important issues.

He has finally admitted some Conservative responsibility for the building of the road to nowhere through Pye Green Valley, and, in his words, the destruction of the wildlife habitat. Sadly, he still cannot bring himself to say that it is the Conservative County Council that actually built the road, despite the promises of various Conservative candidates in Hednesford that this would happen over their dead bodies. They made similar promises about the stadium.

It is fairly obvious that Conservative promises to defend the green belt and open space only go so far. If the price is right then it's a different story.

Councillor Burnett, I know you are up for election next May, but you're welcome to discuss issues with me at any time. Let me know when and I'll get the kettle on.

Extension proves bigger is not necessarily better

AM I alone in detesting the massive extension to Sainsbury's Orbital Centre supermarket?

Removing the suspended ceiling to reveal the steel girders supporting the roof, turns the store into an echo-chamber, around which PA announcements reverberate.

Placing the cafeteria on a newly created mezzanine first floor, causes the floor to vibrate underfoot as customers make their way to the tables. Being open on one side to the store floor, every staff announcement resonates and interrupts the conversation of diners.

Additional disability parking, provided some 40 yards from the store entrance, demonstrates the management's ignorance of disability needs.

Doubling the width of in-store aisles, at least enables customers to circumnavigate pantechnicon sized trolleys, upon which staff assemble orders from on-line clients!

Bigger is not necessarily better, and this enormous monstrosity has succeeded in turning a pleasant shopping experience into a punishing tour!

Will last person to leave village turn the lights out?

HERE we go again! Staffordshire County Council, with its infinite knowledge and utter disregard for local communities and its lack of understanding on how real world commerce operates, is attempting to impose draconian traffic calming measures on a road that has one reportable pedestrian/motor vehicle accident in the last 15 years and no reportable moving vehicle prosecutions in the past 10.

The half mile or so of traffic calming measures from Hayes Way to Five Ways island is way over the top from a safety aspect, will cost thousands of pounds to configure in these days of austerity, and will basically spell the end of Heath Hayes as a local shopping area.

This will result in businesses closing down and the consequential loss of amenities to the local community, if we just take one aspect of this proposal, ie making Hednesford Road one way from Chapel Street to Five Ways except for taxis and bicycles.

What absolute madness. This will make two car parks, two trading estates and most of Heath Hayes traders inaccessible for deliveries and customers and also raises the sensitive issue of access by private ambulances to two funeral homes.

Staffordshire County Council states these measures will ease congestion at Five Ways island., but anyone needing to use the Lichfield Road or travel to Norton Canes will either use Cannock Road or the already congested Stafford Street or Bank Street, both of which lead to Wimblebury Road, to access Five Ways island. Wimblebury Road is busy, with long-term parked vehicles and a primary school which attracts further parking at times – an accident waiting to happen in my view.

John Street, a continuation of Wimblebury Road, has also been the scene of a fatal accident this year.

Heath Hayes' main car park backs onto waste land and the so-called village green, a large area of unused land. Is the real agenda not primarily a road safety issue but a ploy to release more building land? Will the last person to leave Heath Hayes please turn out the lights?

Egg prank was no joke

ON the night of Monday October 31, I returned home from a hospital appointment (around 7.15pm) to find eggs smashed all over my front windows and door.

If that wasn't bad enough, the noise of the impact upset my elderly cat so much, he was quaking in my airing cupboard in terror!

The stupid, thoughtless morons who thought this was a funny trick to play on someone seriously needs to think about the consequences of their actions. My cat is still mourning the death of his lifelong companion, and this has unsettled him severely!

So, thank you, whoever you are. I am disabled, and had to spend over two hours cleaning the mess up . . . if this is the insight of the next generation, Lord help us.

Pupils get a taste of life as Victorians

YOUNGSTERS in Heath Hayes have helped to make learning active by dressing up as Victorians.

Year 1 pupils at Five Ways Primary in Langholm Drive experienced a day in the life of a Victorian school when the educational history group 'Living Past Times' paid a visit.

The children took part in activities like mental arithmetic, chanting spellings and copy writing using dip pens and ink, chalk and slate boards.

Children as well as teachers dressed in Victorian style clothing.

The day meant they learned about the severe punishments dealt out by Victorian teachers, while break-time proved a chance to think about the era with the chance to take part in traditional Victorian playground games and activities.

Bethan Hadley, Year 1 teacher, said, "As well as having great fun, the children were able to compare their life at school today with that of Victorian children."

Sign up for new course

A PRINCE'S Trust team based in Cannock is urging young people to sign up to its next 12-week programme which starts on Monday (November 14).

The intensive programme takes entrants aged 16 to 25 and allows them to contribute to their local community, while gaining four nationally recognised qualifications.

Benefits are unaffected and team leaders can also provide travel costs if required. To join team 268 e-mail leader Beth at beth.alvey@stokecoll.ac.uk or call 07557 319414.

Parish cash bid to revamp skatepark

PARISH councillors hope to secure nearly £40,000 in grants so a skatepark can be refurbished at a recreation area in Norton Canes.

The village council had to find £9,375 to support its bid for funds and asked Cannock Chase District whether money allocated to improve a play area at the Brownhills Road Recreation Ground could be utilised for the skatepark instead.

A full meeting of the district council voted to allow the funding to be switched. The money has come from a Section 106 payment from developers of a flats development at the junction of Brownhills Road and Railway Street to fund improvements to the recreation ground.

Disrepair

Deputy leader of the district council Councillor Janos Toth said the skatepark would be a good use for the money, but Councillor Mick Grocott said he was concerned that there might not be enough funds to maintain the play area when it fell into disrepair. Director of leisure Tony McGovern said money from two other Section 106 agreements in the area would be available to cover upgrade and maintenance of play equipment.

Councillor Danny Davies said he was worried that the parish council had not consulted residents over the skatepark.

"A skatepark is more for young boys aged five to 15 than all children," he said.

The £9,375 will only be transferred if the parish council succeeds in attracting the grant funding.

Council housing survey

LICHFIELD District Council is calling on its residents to share their views about their housing needs through an online and telephone survey.

The answers will help the council to shape its plans for the district.

Councillor Neil Roberts, cabinet member for development services, said: "So that our plans for the district are based on what local people need, we need to know what housing issues they face."

The council has employed NEMS – a market research company – to conduct a telephone survey this month. It will take around 15 minutes to complete and all the answers will be anonymous.

Councillor Ian Pritchard, the cabinet member for housing, said: "The answers to our survey will also inform our future housing strategy."

The council is reminding residents of some basic safety tips when responding to a telephone survey. This includes never giving out bank details, information about home security, and when they are likely to be at home during the day.

To fill in the survey online log on to www. lichfielddc.gov.uk/housingsurvey

Councillor's tailback fears over traffic-calming plan

TRAFFIC-CALMING proposals for a main route through Heath Hayes could lead to more motorists clogging up side roads in the area, it has been claimed.

Councillor Diane Todd is urging people to visit a consultation exhibition to make their feelings known about plans for Hednesford Road. But she said Staffordshire County Council had written only to people living along the road. "I am concerned that people who live in the side roads may not know what is being planned," she added.

"We have had problems with speeding on Hednesford Road but I think the proposal to seal off the access to Cannock Road via Chapel Street except for buses and cyclists is ludicrous. I think it will cause a problem because people won't go round to Eastern Way and will try and use the side streets. "They would not be able to cope with extra traffic," she said.

Councillor Todd said that if the Chapel Street proposal was implemented, it would make no sense to move the pedestrian crossing in Hednesford Road either.

"I feel it is very important that people should go along and see for themselves what is proposed," she added. "The scheme includes a number of speed bumps and cushions. Once the work is done, it is going to be very difficult to change," she added.

Replies

County council officers will be present at the exhibition to discuss proposals.

The deadline for replies to the county council is November 18. The county council has also put forward proposals for traffic calming in Wimblebury Road and John Street.

Together with the Hednesford Road scheme, £130,000 is to be spent to cut speeding in Heath Hayes and Wimblebury. The county council says the proposal to make Chapel Street one-way will reduce pressure on Five Ways island.

The plans will be on show at Heath Hayes Library today (Thursday) from 3-8pm.

Design firm just misses award

AN RUGELEY architectural firm hired to restore footballer Kevin Phillips' luxury £1.5 million home has narrowly missed out on a top award. Park House Design, based at Wheelhouse Road, was shortlisted in the best domestic extension or conversion category for the Local Authority Building Control Excellence Awards.

But it missed out to a project carried out in Herefordshire. Park House Design was responsible for building an extension on England and Albion striker Mr Phillips' home – the Grade II-listed Grand Lodge in Hill Ridware, Rugeley.

Mr Phillips, who now plays for Blackpool, moved into the property last year.

Park House Design received a finalist certificate at the awards ceremony held in London.

The Archbishop of Birmingham leads the special mass at Cardinal Griffin

Archbishop in visit to school to celebrate 50th anniversary

Head teacher Michael Burrowes greets the Archbishop of Birmingham, the Most Rev Bernard Longley

A SPECIAL mass was held at a Cannock secondary school as part of its 50th anniversary celebrations.

Cardinal Griffin Catholic High School in Cannock welcomed the Archbishop of Birmingham, the Most Rev Bernard Longley, for the anniversary mass last week .

The mass in the school hall was attended by more than 280 people and was followed by a reception in the gym.

Deputy head Brian Leechmere said the night was one that the school community had been looking forward to for a long time.

The evening also included a dance performance which pupils have been preparing during recent weeks. There was also music written specially for the Mass by members of staff.

The foundation stone for the school, which has nearly 1,000 pupils, was laid on October 22, 1960 by Basil Griffin.

The school's first pupils were admitted a year later.

Book festival attracts 2,000 more visitors

THE sixth Lichfield Literature Festival has been hailed a success after it attracted more than 2,000 people and saw ticket sales soar by more than 70 per cent.

The nine-day festival featured a record number of authors, with top crime writers including Inspector Morse creator Colin Dexter.

There were 52 events – double the amount from last year – and nine events completely sold out.

Festival manager Peter Bacon said the festival had been a great success.

He said: "More than 2,300 people came to the festival, both adults and children.

"I think there was more interest this year because we had more events and a wide range of authors, with some big names.

"We had Lionel Blue who is regularly on BBC Radio 4's Today programme and Adam Hart-Davis who presents popular science programmes on the television.

"It was mainly held in The George Hotel but there were workshops in various other places."

The festival's Big Read also saw 200 free copies of Val McDermid's Trick Of The Dark being distributed throughout Lichfield. She came to the Friary School Theatre to talk about her latest book, The Retribution.

Colin Dexter was the guest speaker during the literary dinner at The George Hotel.

The dinner and the Big Read were the centrepieces of this year's festival, from October 1 to 9.

Skaters ready to slide into town

A SKATING show is being staged at Cannock's Silver Blades Ice Rink in December. Cannock International Ice Skating Club is presenting a Magical Musical Medley on Ice.

There will be two performances on December 10 at 5pm and the following day at 7.30pm. Tickets are on sale now from the rink in Lakeside Plaza, Bridgtown, on 08700 852929.

The show will feature more than 40 local skaters of all ages and abilities. The club meets each Saturday at 5pm and is run by the rink's professional coaches.

Patients triumph again

THE patients came out on top once again at the annual Wheelchair Grand Prix at Cannock Chase Hospital. More than 50 patients and staff from the rehabilitation unit took part in the relay race.

In the event's seventh year, the patients celebrated their seventh straight victory. Members of staff used wheelchairs or walked with a weighted rucksack, while patients used their own wheelchairs or walking sticks. Mid Staffordshire NHS Foundation Trust chief executive Lyn Hill-Tout also took part.

Former patient and hospital volunteer Paul Rhodes organised the event. He said: "The idea behind the Grand Prix is to let staff know how much we, the patients, appreciate everything they have done for us.

"I'd like to say a big thank you to all the patients and staff who took part."

Members of Great Wyrley Art Club show their paintings

WORK produced over the past 12 months by members of Great Wyrley Art Club has been put on show in the village.

The club enjoyed a steady flow of visitors to Great Wyrley Community Centre to view the best paintings produced. The club has 28 members and meets each Thursday at the centre in Landywood Lane from 12.30pm to 2.30pm.

The group started in 2000 with a small number of keen amateur artists and has steadily grown over the years. Many of the works on display were available for sale.

Club chairman Peter Dibble said: "We had more than 70 people come along during the course of the day to view our work. The numbers were up on previous years.

"It was a successful day and we had some very positive comments about the quality of our paintings."

The club has an exhibition at the Atrium Gallery in Blakenhall, Wolverhampton, which runs until December 6.

THE Staffordshire Hoard exhibition in America is proving so popular that it may go on tour to other parts of the US.

More than 1,000 people visited the first two days of the display Anglo-Saxon treasure dug up in a field in Hammerwich.

One hundred pieces of the treasure are on show at the National Geographic Museum in Washington DC.

Museum bosses said the opening day brought more than 650 visitors, the biggest first day crowd since the Terracotta Warriors display in 2009.

The eminent American newspaper The Washington Post has carried a report about the Hoard's display and the story of its discovery by Terry Herbert using a metal detector.

National Geographic will premiere the second of three documentaries on the treasure; a new book on the hoard will be unveiled.

The Hoard is also the cover story on National Geographic Magazine's November edition and following the success of the first few days it may visit other US cities, including New York and Chicago.

It is anticipated this exposure will see the Staffordshire Hoard reach an audience of more than 300 million people in almost 200 countries.

Famous

The treasure is jointly owned by Stoke-on-Trent City Council and Birmingham City Council after £3.3 million was raised in an appeal to keep it in Britain.

Mohammed Pervez, the leader of Stoke council, travelled to the US to highlight the project to leading businesses in the city. "The Staffordshire Hoard is a world famous attraction," he said.

"It has already wowed over 500,000 visitors. It is the most valuable Anglo-Saxon treasure find ever discovered, we vowed to do everything we could to conserve, protect and research these unparalleled artefacts responsibly. I am thrilled that audiences in the U.S. are now able to share the excitement of seeing these early medieval artefacts."

Half of The Hoard's 1,500 gold and silver artefacts, which were dug up in 2009, will eventually go on display at the Potteries Museum. Much of the buried treasure dates to the 7th century and comprises military gear such as sword fittings and helmet plates from the Kingdom of Mercia.

With its blue flag beaches, exciting entertainment and stunning countryside, Benidorm has something for everyone.

If you've been coughing for 3 weeks, it might not be 'only a cough', so tell your doctor.

Everyone gets a cough now and again, but if you've had one for over three weeks you should see your doctor. Coughing could be a sign of lung cancer. Of course, in the vast majority of cases it won't be serious. But if there is something wrong, finding it early means it's more likely to be treatable, so tell your doctor.

Call to protect war memorial

Horse legend Monty Roberts signs copies of his book at South Staffordshire College Rodbaston campus

Equine legend takes reins for college talk

A HORSE training legend from America paid a visit to students at South Staffordshire College.

Equestrian students at the Rodbaston campus enjoyed a unique experience when author and renowned expert horse whisperer Monty Roberts gave them a talk and demonstration.

The students were shown horse training techniques by the 76-year-old, who presents teaching methods with his touring organisation Intelligent Horsemanship.

Mr Roberts looks at behaviour and psychology attributes of horse training which can then be used in related careers such as riding, veterinary practice, farming and horse-race training. Based in California, he is renowned for educating and inspiring audiences around the world.

He has trained the Queen's equestrian team and has worked as a Hollywood stunt man.

Assistant yard manager Beccy Vince said: "Monty's methods of communication with horses of all ages, types and temperaments are an inspiration for all horse enthusiasts."

A COUNCILLOR has appealed for Hednesford's vandal-hit war memorial to be protected by SmartWater.

Councillor Graham Burnett told a full meeting of Cannock Chase Council that he feared the bronze plaques bearing the names of the town's war dead could be stolen by metal thieves.

The gated war memorial site off Rugeley Road was unveiled in 1922 and has the names of the First World War dead on plates around the structure. The Second World War and Korean War memorial is in the form of a large stone.

Councillor Burnett said: "Given the recent spate of attacks on war memorials in the West Midlands we should give consideration to protecting the bronze plaques on the memorial with SmartWater or some other means.

Operation

"We will shortly be standing there to mark Armistice Day and Remembrance Sunday. We must make sure we protect the site."

Council leader Councillor George Adamson said police had just started an operation against anti-social behaviour in Hednesford and he hoped they would make sure the memorial site was properly protected.

Cannock police commander, Chief Inspector Carl Ratcliffe, said that in the last two weeks officers had taken 33 names of youngsters involved in anti-social behaviour. A dispersal order had also been used in Market Street and Kingfisher Drive.

Jason's in the saddle on fundraising ride

A RUGELEY estate agent took to his bike and cycled 140km to help raise £1,500 for a charity which had cared for one of his staff during a serious illness.

Jason Dibble, partner at Chase Independent, trained for more than six months in preparation for the Prostate Cancer Charity Tour Ride 2011, which took him all around Staffordshire on a single day.

The 40-year-old was spurred on by the care his sales negotiator, Mike Kelly, had received courtesy of the charity, when he fell ill with prostate cancer almost three years ago.

Jason Dibble, left, with Mike Kelly, preparing for the 140km bike ride in aid of the Prostate Cancer Charity

Progress

Mr Kelly, now aged 63, underwent radical prostectomy surgery at North Staffordshire Hospital, followed by a course of radiation treatment.

He is now in remission, receiving annual check-ups to chart his progress.

Mr Dibble, who runs the business with wife, Michele, said he had been in awe of the treatment and care Mike received for a disease which affects so many men, and which can be so devastating if not caught in time.

"I turned 40 in February and wanted to do something to mark it that would test me, but help do some good too," he explained.

"Mike undoubtedly went through hell with cancer, but thanks to the Prostate Cancer Charity, he got through it, and thankfully, has his life back. I want to thank staff, customers, family and friends who have all been so generous and supportive, and helped me raise so much."

Mr Kelly, who lives in Hixon with his wife, Janet, has worked at Chase Independent for four years.

"The support I received from the team at Chase Independent was amazing and I can't express how grateful I am for that help, which didn't just get me through this, but Janet too," he said.

A keen actor before his illness, Mr Kelly has appeared in a number of programmes as an extra, and is now looking forward to resuming his acting again.

"I'm thrilled Jason helped raise so much money," he said.

"These events provide funds that really do help to save lives, and just raising awareness of this disease, and warning men to get checked out, is a huge boost to the charity."

Official opening of charity store's festive range of goods

CHRISTMAS shoppers are invited to drop by a Rugeley charity shop for their official launch of festive goods.

The Salvation Army store in Market Square will be transformed into a Christmas wonderland from 9am on Thursday November 17.

Staff and volunteers have been saving the best of the donations throughout the year to give customers an extra special treat.

Area manager Ann Penny said: "We're really looking forward to launching our Christmas stock. "We are going to have some fabulous items on sale at very reasonable prices – perfect for people hoping to bag a bargain."

Customers will also be offered one of the charity's new double sided re:ward loyalty cards which gives those who spend over £5 or donate goods in the new re:bag a stamp which can be converted into credit to spend in store.

Profits are gift-aided to The Salvation Army which supports people across the UK and Scotland.

Visit www.wear2shop.co.uk to find out more about all of the charity's stores.

Lions ready for gift fair

BURNTWOOD Lions Club is holding its ninth annual craft and gift fair on November 19 in Burntwood Memorial Hall.

There will be more than 50 stalls at the fair which is open from 10am to 3pm. Entrance is £1.

On November 6, the Lions will collect items for the Christmas boxes for people in need in the area.

Contributions can also be delivered to 6 Boulton Close, Burntwood. Call 01543 671949.

Gym flexible on payments

LEISURE centres in South Staffordshire are offering new gym memberships where people can put off paying until the new year.

People who are keen to get into shape can join Cheslyn Hay Leisure Centre and Penkridge Leisure Centre in November but start paying in January.

To take advantage of the offer, people need to join by November 15.

Appeal after plans refused

SEVERN Trent Water has appealed against the refusal of its plans for a wind turbine in Burntwood.

Lichfield District Council's planning committee rejected the scheme for a 413ft wind turbine at Burntwood Sewage Treatment Plant, in Peters Lane, Woodhouses, in June.

Residents were concerned about the impact on wildlife including bats, owls, buzzards and lapwings.

Company fined as emissions level exceeded

A COUNCIL chief has expressed his delight after a Burntwood factory was fined £26,500 for breaching solvent emission limits.

Maier UK Ltd was sentenced atCannock Magistrates' Court last month for going over its environmental permit while manufacturing and painting plastic car parts.

Following routine inspections by Lichfield District Council's environmental health team, the company was found to be emitting 66.49 tonnes of solvent into the atmosphere, 46.84 tonnes over its agreed annual limit.

After the firm failed to change its manufacturing processes to bring the emissions back in line, the council started court proceedings.

Maier UK Ltd was fined £26,500, ordered to pay court costs of £13,958, and £15 victim surcharge – a total of £40,473.

Councillor Ian Pritchard, Lichfield District Council's cabinet member for housing, health and environmental protection, said: "After a lengthy investigation, we are pleased this case has been successfully resolved.

Changes

"It's our role to make sure companies fulfil their responsibility towards the environment, and this prosecution shows how important it is that businesses comply with environmental standards.

"We're encouraged that, as a result of these proceedings, the Spanish-owned company has committed to investing around one million euros into making the necessary changes to bring down its emissions to the agreed limit, in line with European standards."

Perfect planning for the group's upcoming events

PRESIDENT Stella Winfield welcomed members and guests, and wished a happy birthday to eight of the group's ladies.

Assistant secretary Jane Bishop read out the minutes and forthcoming events. November speakers are James Mitchell and Graham Cole.

The Federation Carol Service at Lichfield Cathedral is on Saturday December 10 at 3pm.

In January SFWI has 'An Evening Out' with Jean Martyn, the voices of

CANNOCK WI

WI, 'The Harmonies' group, and Stafford Musical Youth Theatre 'The Myts'. Held at Stafford County Show ground's Ingestre Suite, it promises to be a wonderful evening.

Cannock cookery group's october offering of pork, apricot, chestnut and mushroom slice was greatly enjoyed by everyone.

In November, the cookery group will be making chilli and a trifle.

Treasurer Barbara Mathews has been busy taking deposits for forthcoming events.

Social secretaries Jenni Diggory and Jan Anderson finalised visits to Birmingham Panto in January, the annual holiday to Oban and the Christmas lunch at The Masons Bar and Restaurant on December 15.

The Christmas party will feature Cannock Ex-servicemen's Choir.

The president told members that the SWFI Annual Council Meeting was a huge success, with the afternoon speaker Jeremy Spake telling some hilarious stories.

Retired president Del Johnson won the Denman dip's first prize and will enjoy two days at the Denman College doing the courses of her own choice.

The group meeting hosted by Hayes Green was also a lovely evening.

Members from Cannock, Shareshill and Norton Canes attended.

Sheila Moulton, SFWI treasurer explained how today's recession is affecting all WI budgets and the need to support SFWI Events.

Buffet

The evening's entertainer Mr David Bartley then gave a non-stop rendering on Black Country Poetry and Banter.

Thanks go to president Sandy Hobbs and committee for the lovely buffet.

The morning speaker, Ken Giles began his topic 'Odes of Life and Laughter'

In this day and age of gloom and recession, laughter is certainly one of the best tonics anyone can have. The ladies enjoyed listening to his funny poems.

The next meeting is today, November 10 at 10.30am at St Luke's Church Hall.

The topic is flower arranging with a competition for a flower arrangement in a wine glass.

It's hats off for expert speaker

CANNOCK CHASE LADIES' PROBUS CLUB

CLUB chairman Eva Eustace welcomed everyone to the October meeting. Jean Jones said Grace, which was followed by a delicious lunch which was enjoyed by all.

Speaker secretary Elsie Parkes introduced the speaker, Helen Johnson, of Staffordshire Heritage and Arts based at the Staffordshire County Museum, Shugborough.

She gave a most interesting talk and showed film slides of hats through the ages, going back to the 18th century. She also brought along some items from the collection for the group to see and they were impressed with their fine stitching. All were, of course, hand made.

Margaret Whitbrook gave the vote of thanks and presented a donation to Helen for the upkeep of the museum.

Excellent

Membership secretary June Evans gave details of cards which she had sent to members who were unable to attend because of poor health. Social secretary Margaret Parkes said members and their friends had enjoyed a good day at Chester and an excellent cruise on the river in Nottingham in August. She said that the next special outing would be to see Christmas at Chatsworth on December 1.

Mrs Eustace thanked the members who had supported the coffee morning at her home. She then brought the meeting to a close and wished all the members a safe journey home.

The club meets for lunch at The Barns on the last Thursday of the month. For details contact Norma Hutchinson on (01543) 505183.

Tax boost for guild funds

CANNOCK TOWNSWOMEN'S GUILD

AT OCTOBER'S meeting, chairwoman Hilda Hathaway was acting secretary and Vale Beale acting chairwoman.

A welcome was given to one new member and a visitor.

There was a harvest supper of fish and chips followed by a game of stand-up bingo. The evening was very enjoyable and there was no speaker.

A letter has been sent to the 1st Heath Hayes Guides for supporting the group in its Jiffy-bag campaign.

Treasurer Gillian Gethin informed members that she had received a rebate from the tax man which will help boost funds. Members were asked if anyone was interested in auditing the books and Pauline Haywood offered her services.

The reading group is currently enjoying Sepulchre, by Kate Mosse.

On November 15, the speaker will be Anthony Hunt who will talk about 'Murder and Manslaughter in Cannock Chase'.

Visits have been arranged to Wedgewood Museum and Trentham Gardens this month, and Wightwick Manor, Wolverhampton, in December.

Visitors and new members are welcome to the meetings at St.Luke's Primary School, New Penkridge Road, Cannock, 7.30pm on the third Tuesday of each month.

STOP DREAMING AND GET MOVING TO A NEW HOME THIS CHRISTMAS

If a new home is top of your wish list for Christmas, you could turn the dream into reality with Bloor Homes. The company has the last few remaining properties at our Tamworth development all ready to welcome you for Christmas – and as a special Christmas bonus, Bloor will play Santa by giving you an iPad 2 and a £500 John Lewis gift voucher when you move in.

If you think it's already too late to get organised in time to move in by Christmas, Bloor Homes Sales Director Anne Cadman has some words of reassurance: "There are all sorts of reasons why people may think that they can't possibly manage a move in time, but they could be very pleasantly surprised. We have a number of different offers which could help to achieve a pre christmas move. Our aim is to offer incentives which can make a real difference in speeding up the buying process."

If you are already a homeowner, the biggest barrier to a move could be having to sell your existing home but with Bloor Homes part-exchange schemes, even this is achievable before Christmas.

Bloor is offering two part-exchange options on selected plots and you can choose between 105% of the full market value of your home or 100% part-exchange plus a £200 per month mortgage subsidy for two years. Also available is a matched deposit of up to 5%.

Bloor Homes is also offering its Homestart2 scheme. Available on selected plots this is a shared equity scheme which means that only a 5% deposit is needed and purchasers can move in for 85% of the asking price. The remaining 10% for the deposit is an interest-free loan, repayable in up to 10 years.

At Marlborough Park, Tamworth, there are two view homes on offer which come complete with carpets, light fittings, turf and fencing. The three-bedroom option is a three bedroom three-storey Milbury at £249,950 while the four-bedroom Shawford at £279,950 even has a hot tub. There are two other four bedroom properties available at £239,950 and £269,950. There is also a Ripley a 2 bedroom coach house with 2 parking spaces for sale at £139,950 (discounted by £10,000), this property includes carpets, vinyl & light fittings and is not available in conjunction with any other offer.

Students cook up cash with cake sale

Hagley Park Academy pupils who raised money for Help for Heroes with a cake sale

PUPILS in Rugeley cooked up a treat to raise more than £150 for charity with a cake sale.

Hagley Park Academy's school council organised the sale, which raised money for Help for Heroes.

Several members of staff contributed to the supplies by baking fairy cakes and cupcakes at home and bringing them in.

The catering manager from the Hagley Park restaurant made a donation of chocolate muffins, while cakes were freshly baked in the food technology department by willing helpers.

A school spokesman said: "Needless to say the cakes proved very popular as a break and lunchtime treat for the staff and students alike and they flew off the plates selling like proverbial hot cakes.

"Donation buckets were soon getting heavy with all of the coins being thrown into them as they were rattled and shaken to encourage everyone to part with their pockets of change."

In total £167 was raised for Help for Heroes.

Promise made to long-term unemployed

Tesco jobs pledge on new town store

SUPERMARKET chain Tesco has given a commitment to creating jobs for long-term unemployed people when it opens a store in Rugeley.

The promise has been welcomed by the leader of Cannock Chase Council, Councillor George Adamson.

He said the arrival of Tesco as part of a regeneration of the town centre would be another jobs boost following Amazon's recent move into Rugeley.

A full meeting of the council heard that the latest revised scheme for the Rugeley Tesco store had just been received by planning.

The proposals had to be amended to take account of existing sewage pipes on the former Celcon site in Power Station Road. Once planning permission comes through work on clearing the site is due to begin in January.

About 150 jobs are to be created at the proposed 40,000sq ft store.

Commitment

The development, next to the canal, will also include new units for restaurant and leisure uses as well as for a petrol filling station.

Councillor Adamson said the arrival of Tesco could be brilliant for the town centre.

"They have promised they will take on local people and also have given a commitment to take on long -erm unemployed people," he added. "Rugeley is really booming at the moment with Amazon and the recent news that it has had the third biggest rise in the country in house sales this year."

Amazon is in the process of setting up a major distribution centre at Towers Business Park on the site of the former Lea Hall Colliery site.

It is expected this will eventually create 900 jobs.

A new 80,000sq ft Tesco store on stilts in Hednesford as part of the town centre's £56 million regeneration is on course to open on the new Victoria Shopping Park in time for Christmas 2012.

With the FA Cup are Ty Powers, aged 12, Jake Howes, 11, and Connor Yeates, 10, with Wyrley Juniors chairman Keith Hardy, committee member Martin Millard, bar staff David Ridgway, and bar manager Trish Bradley

Players get their hands on FA Cup

YOUNG footballers were able to get their hands on the FA Cup.

Wyrley Juniors Football Club – the largest junior club in Staffordshire – won the right to host the cup for five hours after the club won the national FA Charter Standard Community Club of the Year award.

In September the football club took ownership of its new £1m-plus clubhouse in Long Lane, Essington.

Keith Hardy, who has been chairman of the club for the last 15 years, said: "We are extremely delighted to be able to host such a prestigious and historic trophy, particularly as we know there is a huge demand for it. Our huge thanks go to The FA for their support."

He said the club also has its part to play in nurturing young talent.

"We have got very strong links with Walsall and 20 youngsters go there each year with five or six getting into the centre of excellence" he added. "Hopefully some of our youngsters can win it some day."

Volunteer Ivy climbs towards a top award

A BENEVOLENT 92 year old who has volunteered in Penkridge for more than 80 years is in the running for a local hero award.

Ivy Stone was nominated by her grandson Steve Allison and daughter Nicola Smith, of Great Wyrley, following her eight decades of work in the local community.

From the age of 12 Ivy collected water for elderly residents before joining the local league of kindness in 1928.

Eventually Ivy set up her own group; the Penkridge Goodies, helping to organise fundraising activities to raise money for a host of local charities and worthy causes. She was a member of the Goodies for 27 years. The group disbanded following the death of co-founder Win Laffan.

Ivy's daughter Nicola said: "She is an amazing woman and as long as I can remember has always put others before herself. She is always willing to give a helping hand, never sits still and is prepared to go without so others have a better life."

Flight

Her honourable work has also seen her knit clothes and blankets for Kathryn House Hospice and for Stafford Hospital's premature baby ward as well as taking part in dog walks for the deaf and raising funds to send a disabled youngster to Lapland to meet Santa.

Ivy, who has been put forward for the unsung hero and volunteer of the year categories, is an avid supporter of the Air Ambulance who gave her a free flight to acknowledge her generosity.

At the age of 84, she completed a 60-mile sponsored motorcycle ride across the district, on the back of a 1000cc Honda Goldwing motorbike.

Other categories include environmental volunteer of the year, volunteer team of the year, sporting or cultural volunteer and an outstanding leadership award.

All those shortlisted will be invited to a gala dinner and ceremony at Alton Towers in March, where the winners will be crowned.

To nominate, call 0300 111 8000, drop into your local volunteer centre, search for volunteer Staffordshire awards on Facebook and Twitter or visit www.volunteerstaffordshire.org.uk/awards

School given top marks in Ofsted report

INSPECTORS have given a Cheslyn Hay school the highest possible Ofsted rating.

Cheslyn Hay Sport and Community High School was judged outstanding by the inspection team. The school currently has 1,340 students aged from 11 to 18 and has been over-subscribed for some years.

After a two-day inspection before half term, the inspectors praised the students' courtesy, attitude and behaviour, and the contribution many make to the school and the wider community. The inspectors say this reflects the students' superb spiritual, moral, social and cultural development.

The school was judged outstanding for curriculum, care, guidance and support and for leadership and management.

Teaching is judged good and often outstanding and the inspectors say that the school gives excellent value for money.

The work of the governors was also judged outstanding. Headteacher John Martin said; "Such ringing endorsements of our students will make parents very proud.

"All the students played some part to secure such excellent judgements.

"This set of grades is a wonderful achievement and reflects the sustained professionalism and sheer hard work of so many people over a number of years.

Celebrating the outstanding Ofsted report are headteacher John Martin with pupils, front, l to r: Simon Taylor, aged 17, Janraj Singh, 12, Roberta Harpur, 12 and Francesca Robson, 12

Grateful

"I am extremely grateful for the support that I have received.

I count myself very lucky to be working with such lovely students, committed governors, dedicated staff and supportive parents.

"Together, we have created an outstanding school for our young people and the community."

Parent Kate Sharratt, said: "With the excellent leadership from the headteacher, the commitment and professionalism of the staff and the enthusiasm of the students, it is well-deserve.

"I am extremely proud of my children attending this school."

Teen beauty Beth is beating the odds

WHEN 17-year-old Beth Willson recently passed her driving test it was a landmark occasion.

The teenager, of Hill Ridware, near Rugeley, has a boyfriend, is studying at college and regularly enjoys night out with her friends, but suffers from hydrocephalus – or water on the brain.

Parents Helen and Andy were worried their daughter wouldn't have a normal life but Beth has beaten the odds and is now looking forward to a career as a beauty therapist. Her stunning looks have even landed her a few modelling jobs.

"Before I was even born, doctors knew that something was wrong, but they thought I would be okay," she says.

"However, we were on holiday in Cornwall when I was eight months old and I became paralysed.

"It was a very worrying time for my parents but doctors discovered I had a cyst in my brain, which had filled up with water and caused some damage."

Beth spent much of her childhood at Birmingham Children's Hospital and has had 39 operations on her head, legs, stomach and back. She now gets about in a wheelchair and her condition has also left her with a speech impediment.

Determined not to be held back, she has recently done some modelling work with Pool Photography in Burntwood.

She is also working with Dame Tanni Grey-Thompson, helping to model a range of clothes especially designed by the paralympian for disabled people.

Beth Willson, aged 17: Picture: Poolphotography.co.uk

Beth, who has a sister Steph, aged 22, and brother Gareth, aged 21, says: "Most people think 39 operations is really bad, but it is part of my life and something I have to get on with.

"I'm determined to enjoy my life."

Fantastic

The teenager was a pupil at Henry Chadwick Primary before attending The Friary School in Lichfield, and is now studying beauty therapy at South Staffordshire College in Tamworth.

"The staff have been fantastic, and have even given me a dictaphone so I can record conversations with my tutors as I suffer from short-term memory loss," she says.

"Now I've passed my driving test, I will be able to get to college without relying on taxis."

Beth says the only problem she is now facing is trying to get a part-time job.

"I would like to get a beauty-based job at weekends but, like everyone, I'm finding it hard to get work."

Disney is theme for club show

A FLOWER club in Rugeley is putting on a Disney-themed flower arranging pantomime to raise money for charity.

Lea Hall Flower Club has been running charity events annually since 1969, with a different theme each year.

Last year its topic was Christmas and raised £650 for The Association of Air Ambulances in the UK.

Six members will be taking part at Mansfield House Social Club, Rugeley, on Monday (November 14) to help the Guide Dogs Blind and Hearing Association.

Programme secretary Irene Bates said: "There will be six different arrangements to fit in the story of the pantomime where one will demonstrate Snow White, the other Sleeping Beauty.

"We have garden visits, craft lessons but this is the main enjoyable event of the year."

Treasurer Gail Croxall said: "It will be a fun event and there will be nice flowers to win in the raffle."

The show starts at 7.30pm. Tickets are £6 each, including refreshments, and can be bought from Irene on 01889 586 342 or on the door.

The club will close for its winter break after the demonstration. New members can join from February.

Snow White

Brought to you by PMA Productions, the company that brought you last year's successful Cinderella is a story of love and romance but also of hate and jealousy. As the beautiful, Snow White longs to meet a Prince to fall in love with her evil stepmother is plotting her downfall when she discovers from her magic mirror that Snow White is the most beautiful of all.

With a talented professional cast, George Crichley for PMA Productions recreates the magic and the mirth with modern familiar songs and comedy galore that everyone can enjoy but based on the traditional tale that we all love.

Come to The Prince of Wales Centre from 24th to 31st December 2011 to clap along with Snow White and the handsome prince and a whole host of fun characters and to shout and boo at the evil stepmother who wants to spoil all that fun.

Starring CHRIS QUINTEN Coronation Street's Brian Tilsley as 'Ramsbottom'

Christmas in Staffordshire

Corrie star swaps cobbled streets for panto in Cannock

IT may be a long way from the cobbles of Weatherfield, but former Coronation Street star Chris Quinten will be on safer ground this year – in a Staffordshire panto.

Chris, whose character Brian Tilsley was famously knifed to death after a 10-year term in the soap, is appearing in a new production of Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs.

The panto is being staged at the Prince of Wales Centre in Cannock, and will be opening on Christmas Eve.

The 54-year-old actor, who has also appeared in Robocop 2 and the 1978 film International Velvet, has taken the part of the evil Ramsbottom.

He left the soap in 1989 when his character was killed off.

Chris, who is currently doing a lot of theatre work, said it was his first time in Cannock and that he was looking forward to getting on stage.

"I love panto and it's such a great time of year.

"It's hard work, but great fun."

PMA Productions return to Cannock after the great success of last year's pantomime Cinderella with this brand new panto.

The happy-ever-after fairytale and traditional story of Snow White originally by the Brothers Grimm is brought up to date with modern references, songs and jokes a plenty in this fun filled musical show for all the family.

Snow White, played by the gorgeous and talented Lauren Atkins, dreams of meeting a Prince to fall in love with and sweep her off her feet. She meets many different characters including the Seven Dwarfs who live in a cottage in the woods.

Like many fairytales there are dark forces afoot and this story has an evil Wicked Queen played by Amy Skillman (seen recently on Britain's Got Talent and Channel 5s Don't Stop Believing) and her ever willing assistant Ramsbottom played by Chris Quinten.

After consulting with her Magic Mirror, the vain Wicked Queen discovers that Snow White is the most beautiful girl in the land...and so she plots to do away with her, and tells Ramsbottom to do the deed! Will he do it to Snow White, who is unaware of the Queen's hatred of her? Will Snow White meet and marry a Prince?

Treat

The comedy genius that is Keith De'Winter returns as Dame Duddles with her sidekick son Mark Peachey (Chitty Chitty Bang Bang and Mr Stink) as Muddles.

Along with a full supporting troupe of dancers from Studio 5 and all the traditional ingredients of a fun-filled, family pantomime, this is sure to be a festive treat for any age.

Tickets are now on sale. Call 01543 578762 or visit the website at www.princeofwales@cannockchasedc.gov.uk

The panto runs from December 24-31, tickets priced £13.50, £11.50 or family at £42.

Christmas in Staffordshire

Take a break from it all in country park

THE varied landscape of open heathland and mixed forests on Cannock Chase provides a stunning variety of colour every autumn – and indeed, winter.

For those looking for a short stroll, the Fairoak Trail has the prefect array of colour produced by the changing leaves and needles at this time of year.

The walk takes you through the Fairoak Valley, which offers a stun ning wet woodland, with trees such as oak, birch, rowan, alder, willow, sweet chestnut and pines.

The observant visitor also has a good chance of seeing the famous Cannock Chase deer as they head for their traditional rutting grounds.

Deer

Venture a little further on the Sherbrook Trail and a real treat unveils.

At this time of year, the Sherbrook Valley is cloaked in purple Heather, blood red bilberry, rusty bracken and yellow grasses, with backdrop of the towering dark green pine and weepy yellow birch trees.

The landscape is more reminiscent of Scottish Highlands than Central England. For those with good sense of direction, a compass and a map, we highly recommend Beaudesert.

Natural beauty,Fairoak Trail, near Rugeley, a haven for wildlife and those wishing to get away from the hustle and bustle of Christmas shopping

This valley has numerous streams and ponds, and a larger amount of deciduous trees, which gives the prefect surroundings for a refreshing autumnal stroll. Rugeley is the nearest town or village to the pretty Fairoak Trail.

Cannock Chase is located between Stafford, Cannock and Rugeley.

Cannock Forest is disected by several roads including the A460 and A513.

Paws for thought over Christmas pets

CHRISTMAS is a wonderful time of year – but not always for your pets!

Here are some tips for keeping your pets out of danger.

Food to avoid giving your pet at Christmas:

- Alcoholic beverages
- Chocolate (highly toxic to pets)
- Coffee
- Mouldy or spoiled foods
- Salt
- Chicken or Turkey bones (they can splinter)

Avoid giving your pet any of your leftovers as this can cause an upset stomach. Also keep your pet away from cooked bones – they can splinter or get lodged in your pet's throat or can cause serious damage by puncturing the intestinal tract.

Pet hazards around the Christmas tree:

- Fallen Christmas tree needles are very sharp and can easily get stuck in your pet's paws or throat.

Give your pets some consideration

Sweep tree needles up regularly or fence off your Christmas tree to separate your pet and tree.

- Do not hang your chocolates from your Christmas tree. They are highly toxic and your pet will be tempted if he can see and smell them.
- Cover up electric cords and flashing tree lights so your pet can't chew them and electrocute himself.
- Try using fairy lights that don't flash as some pets when up close can get very scared by these.
- Christmas tree decorations can cause a nasty accident or be fatal to your pet. Cats, and young pets especially, will show a great interest in decorations hanging from your tree. Try to use unbreakable decorations and nothing too small. Avoid tinsel or ribbons as these are dangerous to the gastrointestinal tract if your pet swallows them.
- Make sure your tree is well anchored so your pet can't pull it over.

Most pet related Christmas dangers are easy to avoid so have fun and remember to be pet safe.

Graham Cole, formerly PC Tony Stamp in ITV's acclaimed drama The Bill

Christmas in Staffordshire

Graham fits the Bill, starring as miser Scrooge at the Garrick

TV star Graham Cole – better known as PC Tony Stamp in The Bill – takes on the lead role of Ebenezer Scrooge in this year's Christmas production at The Lichfield Garrick theatre.

Graham, who spent 21 years in his role in The Bill, visited the city to meet the cast in what was his first ever visit to Lichfield.

And he said he was really looking forward to getting stuck into the role. "This is my first time in Lichfield and when I walked into the theatre it really was fantastic. When I took on the role my wife Cherry said she knew there would be little in the way of rehearsals to play Scrooge as I already have the grumpy credentials for the part."

Adrian Jackson, Lichfield Garrick's artistic and executive director, said there would be some "special surprises" in store for the audience.

The show runs from December 1 until January 2 next year.

Lights go on in city

PENCIL Thursday, November 24 in your diaries, as that is the date for this year's festive light switch on in Lichfield. Traditional carol singing will take place and the switching on of the Christmas lights is scheduled to take place at 7pm, followed by the arrival of Santa. The fun starts in Lichfield Market Square at 6:40pm.

Known to many as Pc Tony Stamp, Graham Cole stars as Scrooge at the Lichfield's Garrick Theatre

Gowns are handpicked for style, elegance and uniqueness

Boutique for brides has a festive offer

CHRISTMAS is one of those special times of the year when there's a chance your loved one might get down on one knee and pop the question.

When it happened to the writer just before Christmas dinner, she needed a stiff drink and a Christmas Day classic film before she calmed down enough to think about what would come next.

Buying your wedding dress is obviously one of the most important parts of planning a wedding.

It can be a magical experience, but can also be a bit stressful. And that's where Floral Boutique can help.

Based on the edge of Cannock town centre, just off the M6, and near to the beautiful Cannock Chase Forest, it is within easy reach of Stafford, Penkridge, Lichfield, Walsall and the wider Midlands. In fact, if you come over during the run up to the festive season you can even see Santa and buy a Christmas tree from the Chase.

Gowns are handpicked for their style, elegance and uniqueness.

It offers a dress for every occasion, whether you're thinking about a wedding on the beach, closer to home – or even Christmas next year.

Discuss

Designers help provide beautiful high quality dresses at affordable prices, with new gowns priced from £600 to £1200.

However, Floral Boutique is always happy to discuss selling a sample gown to those brides-to-be who are tying the knot soon or who are on a budget.

It also stocks a wide range for beautiful jewellery, tiaras, veils and parasols at the boutique.

There's always something to add sparkle to your special day, at Christmas and all year round.

Discover more at www.formalelegance.co.uk or on Facebook, by searching for Formal Elegance Bridal Boutique, so why not take a look and then pay it a visit so it can help you find your dream dress.

As a festive incentive the shop is offering brides-to-be a special bonus.

Buy your dress from us during December 2011 and January 2012 and you'll get a massive 15 per cent off any full priced gown (terms and conditions apply).

An offer like that might even prompt your other half into giving you even more to celebrate this Christmas.

Heat is on with the inferno curry . . . UK's hottest meal

THE Dilshad brings the love for authentic Indian food to the heart of Cannock and is committed in maintaining its high standards.

As a result has received many accolades including "Restaurant of the Year", "Winner of the Curry Competition Award 2007/2008" and more recently "Chef of the Year 2010", which was awarded by the Midlands Curry Award.

The achievements and awards prove that The Dilshad will never lose its appetite and strive for more success.

"We employ some of the best chefs in our kitchens, creating dishes unrivalled in quality and taste to trigger those taste buds," says Tony Uddin, owner of the Dilshad.

Raging

"I have many customers who come here and enjoy a really hot curry so I thought I would try to make one which is the hottest in the United Kingdom.

"The Dilshad Inferno is so hot that I will ask customers to sign a disclaimer before they eat it. It will literally feel like an inferno raging inside. The taste will be absolutely delicious but each mouthful will hurt like crazy.

"I don't think anyone will be able to finish it, but if someone achieves the impossible, I will let them have the meal for free. "

The Dilshad is fully licensed and air conditioned for your comfort.

Get ready for taste sensation

WITH a number of similar establishments in a short stretch of road, competition is tough for Indian restaurants in this part of Cannock.

However, the Elaichi has ridden the storm, with even the recession failing to make a serious dent on the business.

And this festive season is shaping up to be another success for owner Owner Akhtar Miah and his team, who pride themselves on delivering a first-class service on time, every time.

He says: "We serve good food and know that if customers like it, they will come back and they will tell their friends. We rely on their feedback and on word getting around."

Set up more than three and half years ago at Ashworth House, in Cannock Road, Chadsmoor, the Elaichi has built up a reputation as a fine food outlet.

Diners can choose from classic dishes or try spice-infused specialities such as monkfish jalfry, murgh mossolini (chicken pieces stuffed with minced lamb and roasted with butter), tandoori chicken biryani and tandoori murghi.

Spice things up at Elaichi restaurant

For a truly different taste experience, seafood lovers will adore mussels served Bengali style, with garlic, methi leaves, cream and butter.

Classic accompaniments such as keema naan and pilau rice are naturally available, although Akhtar and his team like to add a refreshing twist to staples, featuring sides such as lemon and chili rice or mushroom naan.

Like many Indian restaurants, the Elaichi is unlicensed, so diners are asked to bring in their own alcoholic drinks.

Prices remain competitive with vegetarians and lovers of English food awell catered for.

Special offers include £10 vouchers when £30 is spent and 10 per cent discount on delivery orders. Free delivery is available within a five mile radius.

There are numerous offers in the run up to Christmas, including a free bottle of wine with takeaway orders of £20 or more.

A special five-course Christmas day lunch is also available to help celebrate the season in style.

"It's the perfect venue for Christmas parties," adds Akhtar.

The Elaichi is open seven days a week, including Bank Holidays, from 5-11pm. Call 01543 467985 or visit http://theelaichi.net for more details.

"They are excellent multi-instrumentalists and singers who have written some timeless songs which still resonate today.

"They are planning a break from touring in 2012 so people should make sure they catch them at the Guildhall this time around."

Mystery is revealed over director of next play series

THE PRODUCTION director for next year's Lichfield Mysteries series has been named as Mark Fitzgerald.

The community-based arts project is run every third year and is when 27 plays are performed by different Lichfield groups over two days.

On May 6 and 7, 2012, each play will be performed twice, first outdoors in the Market Square and then inside Lichfield Cathedral, while there will also be a mobile stage performing chosen plays around the district.

Mr Fitzgerald is artistic director of the largest community theatre group in Europe, The Questors Theatre Company, based in London, a position he has held since 2008.

His career to date has included more than 50 director credits including The Complete Works of Shakespeare, The Libertine, A Christmas Carol and Little Shop of Horrors. He also has more than 30 television credits to his name, notably the BAFTA-nominated Channel 4 drama Seven Sins of England.

Mark Fitzgerald . . . experienced

"As the Artistic Director of Questors I am responsible for the programming of more than 20 full productions a year," Mr Fitzgerald said.

"I also look after 250 actors, 40 directors and six designers, so I am fairly experienced in dealing with large scale projects."

Chair of Lichfield Mysteries' council of management, Ros Hallifax, said she was delighted Mark had accepted the position of production director.

"His extensive experience with groups of actors and crews of all ages, both professional and amateur, will be invaluable for his work with those taking part in Lichfield Mysteries 2012," she added.

"He will head up our professional team which includes costume director and designer John Brooking, music director Anthony Evans, technical manager Matt Garfield and production manager Jill Taylor."

GARROWS LAW

BBC1, 9pm

Oscar Wilde once said that the law was an ass, but then, Oscar had a very one-track mind. As far as programme-makers are concerned, the law is a rich seam to be mined for dramatic gold, and they have done so brilliantly with this period drama, which is making a very welcome return. William Garrow is becoming one of TV's most loved legal eagles, and this series, charting his attempts to change the world through his work as a barrister, is a great ode to a real-life pioneer. In this opener, Garrow returns to the Bailey risking his reputation to defend James Hadfield, who is on trial for high treason for attempting to assassinate King George III.

Bought to you by PMA Productions, the company that brought you last year's successful Cinderella is a story of love and romance but also of hate and jealousy. As the beautiful, Snow White longs to meet a Prince to fall in love with her evil stepmother is plotting her downfall when she discovers from her magic mirror that Snow White is the most beautiful of all.
With a talented professional cast, George Crichley for PMA Productions recreates the magic and the mirth with modern familiar songs and comedy galore that everyone can enjoy but based on the traditional tale that we all love.
Come to The Prince of Wales Centre from 24th to 31st December 2011 to clap along with Snow White and the handsome prince and to shout and boo at the evil stepmother.

Help your children get on home ladder

An artists's impression of The Broadhurst Gardens development in Huntington

WITH property prices soaring and the average age of first-time buyers escalating, parents in Cannock will be delighted to hear that an affordable alternative to keeping the kids at home exists at Taylor Wimpey's Broadhurst Gardens development.

The selection of two-bedroom Regency apartments currently available at this development makes it the ideal place for overgrown offspring to step on the property ladder.

And because a limited number of these homes are available without the need for a big deposit thanks to the excellent Government-backed FirstBuy scheme, parents could potentially get rid of the kids by providing a deposit of just £4,000*.

Carl Cooke, Taylor wimpey regional sales and marketing director, says: "Would-be homeowners are finding it increasingly difficult to take that all-important first step on the property ladder, with the average age of a first-time buyer now an all-time high at 37, and the average deposit required to secure a first home in excess of £60,000.

"With FirstBuy, qualifying purchasers could secure their dream apartment at Broadhurst Gardens for just 80 perc ent of the price tag – including a five per cent deposit, subject to status, which may well be considered a price worth paying for parents looking to help their kids to strike out on their own."

FirstBuy lets qualifying purchasers secure selected new homes at Broadhurst Gardens for as little as 80 per cent of the full purchase price – including a 75 per cent mortgage and a five per cent deposit, subject to status – eliminating the need to save for years to purchase a first property. The scheme works through a joint loan of 20 per cent from the Homes and Communities Agency (HCA) and Taylor Wimpey – which is repayable when the 25-year mortgage is up or when the property is sold. To be eligible, purchasers must be first-time buyers and their total household earnings should be less than £60,000.

For example, a two-bedroom Regency'apartment, priced from £99,995, is available with FirstBuy for 80 per cent of its full price – £79,996.

The Speed Triple from Triumph has seen some changes with a radical new look, more power and better handling. Priced £8,799 (plus £600 for the ABS version)

Popular Triumph back with new look

By John Griffiths

IT SEEMS rather over the top to describe Triumph's new Speed Triple as a legend when it only appeared in showrooms this year.

But while Triumph twins remain icons of a previous generation, the three-cylinder engines launched in 1994 propelled the new generation of bikes into the 21st century and quickly established a following of their own.

In that same year, Triumph conceived what was to become known as the "streetfighter" class: Sports machines without the conventional fairing and windshield.

Pundits rated the previous Speed Triple as among the best in its class. The new machine is even better, with a radical new look, new instruments, a little more power and a lot better handling.

The 1,050cc beast has 133bhp (up from 129bhp) and an all-new tubular alloy frame. That enabled the engineers to move the engine's position slightly forward, improving balance and making for sharper steering and more agile handling.

Exhausts

Redesigned exhausts help boost power, and while not noisy you're always aware of the pleasing growl on acceleration and the "pop pop" from the cans as you close the throttle to set up for a corner.

The new bike has a flatter torque curve, too, for smooth, flowing performance throughout the rev range, from first to sixth gear.

The Triumph made easy work of the twisting byways of the Shropshire border as well as safely making its way through slower traffic on busy A roads, the instant response to a touch of throttle making for quick, safe overtaking.

The seat is now a little thinner and a touch lower, making the Speed Triple more comfortably accessible for short-legged riders such as me.

At the front, the round twin headlights have been replaced by a more modern, faceted design and there's a new, easier to read digital instrument display.

The new bike is short wheelbase, which aids agility, with an edgier, futuristic design which is certainly eye-catching, particulary in the white livery of the test bike. The mass is so well-concentrated in the centre of the machine that a short plastic "fish tail" protrudes from under the rear seats to hold the rear lights beyond the back wheel.

The use of race-derived Metzeler K3 tyres seems to cope particular well with putting the Speed Triple's power and torque down safely and securely.

Performance

At £8,799 (plus £600 if you choose the ABS version) the Speed Triple is reasonably priced for a large capacity machine with sports bike performance.

Open the throttle on the 12-valve, fuel-injected engine for a quick burst of overtaking acceleration and be prepared to hang on tight.

Neither is the Triumph a heavy bike at 214kg, but tackling twisting B roads it feels lighter still, flicking quickly left and right without noticeable physical effort. Yet at steady motorway speeds, it has excellent straight line stability even on a blustery day.

Fuel consumption (depending on riding style and type of journey) is likely to vary between 40 and 50-plus mpg.

The Speed Triple has been a big seller for Triumph, and it's good to see that this latest stylish and competent British-built bike is set to remain a class leader.

Full Veloster details released by Hyundai

HYUNDAI has announced the full pricing, specification and insurance group ratings for the all-new Veloster.

On sale in the UK in February 2012, prices will start from £17,995 on the road with an insurance group rating of 16E.

It will offer customers style, functionality and economy delivered with a high level of standard specification.

Tony Whitehorn, managing director, Hyundai Motor UK said: "The new Veloster will bring added emotional appeal to the Hyundai brand.

"It showcases a sleek and distinctive design in an innovative three-door coupé form that provides practicality and individuality as well as dynamic performance.

The Hyundai Veloster, a three-door coupé, goes on sale in February

Powered

"It offers a bold new colour palette and with the choice of bigger wheels with colour inserts, panoramic sunroof and the option of red leather interior on the higher Sport trim level, customers can stand out from the crowd.

"We expect the Veloster's unique combination to re-shape its segment and attract new buyers to the brand."

The Hyundai Veloster will be available in two main trim levels (Veloster and Veloster Sport) and powered by an efficient 1.6-litre four-cylinder GDI petrol engine, generating 140PS.

It will be available with the option of a six-speed manual gearbox or Hyundai's first dual-clutch transmission.

Hyundai's Blue drive technologies – incorporating Intelligent Stop & Go technology and low rolling resistance tyres – will feature in the Veloster line-up ensuring competitive CO2 emissions of 137g/km and a combined fuel economy of 47.9mpg. Standard features are 17in alloy wheels, a 7in touch-screen media centre (with capability of playing games through consoles and films from smart phones), Bluetooth connectivity with voice recognition, climate control air conditioning, reversing sensors, front and rear foglights and striking LED daytime running lights.

The Veloster also features a stereo RDS Radio/CD Player with MP3/WMA compatibility and an iPod connection, with the ability to control all functions on the leather steering wheel for added convenience.

The Veloster Sport benefits from 18in alloy wheels with colour inserts, black leather upholstery with heated front seats, a panoramic sunroof with tilt and slide function, cruise control, keyless entry with engine start/stop button and sporty alloy pedals.

A media pack – containing touch-screen satellite navigation with rear view parking camera, Parking Guidance System and seven speakers including amp and subwoofer – and red leather interior are available as options on the Sport derivative only.

All Hyundai Veloster models will be supported by Hyundai's industry-best, fully transparent Five Year Triple Care assurance.

This package offers five-year unlimited warranty and five years of roadside assistance.

It also gives five years of vehicle health checks.

Crossover success – Nissan is celebrating the sale of more than 100,000 Jukes in just one year in Europe

Nissan breaking the mould with its prototype

IF YOU really want the 3.0-litre twin-turbo Nissan GT-R but need something smaller and more practical like the company's Juke compact crossover, your problems could be over with the announcement of a special prototype dubbed the Juke-R.

It sees the 450bhp engine from the GT-R shoe-horned into the Juke chassis to create a car that school-run mums and man-racers alike can love to bits.

Even better, the car is fully road legal and not just a pipe dream.

Don't get your hopes up too soon, though, because the Juke-R won't see production. It's just a bit of mischief that Nissan is getting up to alongside motorsports outfit RML.

The drivetrain and much of the interior equipment of the GT-R has been modified and adapted to fit the Juke's dimensions, but the Juke's distinctive centre console inspired by a motorcycle fuel tank stays put.

Exciting

Firmly engaged in corporate mode, Nissan's senior vice president of sales and marketing in Europe, Paul Wilcox said: "The Nissan Juke is one of the most exciting cars on the market today.

"Its bold crossover design has captured the imagination of car buyers all over Europe; after just a year on sale we are celebrating sales of more than 100,000 units.

"The Juke lends itself perfectly to a sports derivative and Juke-R explores that territory.

"Equally at home, on road and track, the Juke-R showcases two of the most exciting cars in our range and highlights the technical innovation that drives Nissan.

"This car will more than live up to the dynamic driving experience we engineer into all our cars."

Don't risk lives – keep tyres safe

Drivers are putting off new tyres while money is tight

CONVICTIONS laid down in court for driving on defective tyres are at a four-year high, according to the latest statistics from the Home Office.

In 2010, 10,475 motorists were convicted of the offence, almost 1,000 more than in 2009.

The figures seem to indicate that as budgets tighten at home, drivers are putting off buying replacement tyres until they have passed beyond the legal minimum.

The law states that car tyres must have at least 1.6mm of tread across three-quarters of the width of the tyre and all the way around the circumference.

Most new tyres come with around 8mm of tread when new, so the difference in the respective performance of old and new tyres, especially in the wet, is significant.

Even though the penalty for driving on tyres below the legal limit is up to £2,500 per tyre, as well as a mandatory three points per tyre endorsement on your driving licence, the potential alternative of serious accident could be far worse.

Stuart Jackson, chairman of TyreSafe, a non-profit organisation dedicated to highlighting the dangers of over-worn or damaged tyres, says: "These latest figures are very worrying. We are aware that with recent financial pressures, many motorists are delaying the purchase of new tyres. However, as these latest figures show, some are waiting far too long and are risking their own safety and that of other roads users."

NOTICE TO READERS
Please be aware that when purchasing a puppy there are some simple guidelines you can follow to ensure that you are not purchasing from a Puppy Farmer:

2. Do not arrange to collect a puppy from any other location than that of the breeder.
3. Ensure that you are given any KC documentation, if pedigree.
Whilst Midland News Association publications take great care to avoid publication of advertisements from Puppy Farmers we cannot accept any liability should readers purchase from this kind of establishment.

Merchant's magnificent carp is one of biggest caught

ANGLING by VERNON LEADBETTER sponsored by Archline Angling

CALF Heath Reservoir is back on form with the recent Blackfords AC match being won by Tony Jefferies on peg 80 with a netful of bream for 56lb 8oz.

Second was Simon Farmer on peg 56 with 42lb 15oz and third, on peg 73 was Neil Paas with 38lb 10oz. Swim feeder with pellets was the most productive method for the bream, and there was plenty of quality roach caught by anglers opting for the pole.

One of the biggest fish ever reported from a Blackfords water was caught by Tom Merchant last week while fishing for the day at Leacroft Pool. The magnificent 28lb 8oz common carp was witnessed and weighed by club bailiffs.

Over at Fisherwick Lakes, sport has slowed a little but there are still plenty of large carp being caught. Mick Smith from Tipton had the biggest of the week, a 23lb 7oz mirror carp. Paul Addis from Lichfield had a brace of 20 pounders. Wayne Moody from Burton had the best looking fish in the shape of a 21lb 14oz common carp in its full autumn colours. The coarse pools are also slowing a little too, but it didn't stop Carl Redman from Burton winning Sunday's open match on the stream with 23lb of carp and bream. Jim Powell from Wednesbury was second with 21lb and organiser Nick Lockwood from Birmingham third with 9lb .

Andy Bradley from Tamworth caught 30lb of bream, carp and tench to 6lb all on sweetcorn during a recent midweek trip.

The rivers have recently had some much needed water and once this has fined down I would expect sport to pick up. Reports of barbel and chub catches along the Severn at Ironbridge suggest sport can be hectic if you can find the fish! Pike anglers are also getting among the action and there are plenty of double-figure fish and the odd 20 pounder being caught from around the region, popular methods being lures and dead fish baits.

The last few places remain on the forthcoming fly tying courses. Anyone interested who has not yet registered or left details, should call in within the next 10 days.

The intermediate course is now full and the beginners' course will start in mid January the cost is £75 for the five-week course and includes most of the materials.

Marukyu JPZ pellets and 130/131 groundbait is now back in stock, so if you want to start hauling give it a try.

Don't forget to send an e-mail with a picture if you catch anything of interest, and get in touch if you have had a great day's sport and want to give your fishery a mention.

If you have any interesting catches to report please contact Vernon at Archline Angling on 01922 411205, call into the store or email fish@archlineangling.co.uk

Tae Kwon Do black belt Mason Ford, aged nine

Mason, 9, is a little belter

A CANNOCK youngster has been graded as a black belt in Tae Kwon Do at the age of nine.

Mason Ford has been learning the martial art for the last four years and travelled to Bristol on October 16 to take part in a special grading session when he achieved his black belt standard.

"We are very proud of Mason and his achievements," said his mother Clair, of Woodside place. "He is a very keen sportsman and it is a toss-up between Tae Kwon Do and football for his favourite."

His father Matt said Mason trained up to four times a week with Cannock and Burntwood Tae Kwon Do at Cannock Chase High School and the Erasmus Darwin Academy in Burntwood.

The Moorhill Primary School pupil is the youngest pupil of the club to have achieved a black belt grading.

The club does not start training members until they are over five-years-old.

Mason is also a keen swimmer and footballer. He plays in defence for Chase Stags under-10s on Sundays.

Brindley gets off to flier on the way to a five-goal haul

WOMEN'S FOOTBALL

CHASETOWN LADIES1 REEDSWOOD 2

CHASETOWN suffered a cruel defeat, with Reedswood grabbing a last minute winner.

Chasetown were spurred on by an opening goal after just four minutes, when Jodie Kinsey drove home a 35-yard free-kick off ninth goal of the season from nine games.

Reedswood gradually played themselves back into the game and levelled six minutes into the second half and then had the perfect opportunity to take the lead when Nicci Barter gave away a penalty. Becky Troth guessed the right way, but the ball was blazed well wide of the target.

Five minutes from the time, Troth made a phenomenal double save to keep the scores level but in the final minute, Reedswood struck the killer blow.

Both sides were reduced to 10 players in stoppage time when Stacey Roberts saw red, after the referee deemed she retaliated to a hand raised in her direction.

ALSCOTT LADIES 1 DIAMONDS LADIES 1 – WEST MIDLANDS PREM

This was probably Diamonds' worst performance of the season, but the defence were able to restrict Alscott to just one goal. Karen Clough equalised.

After a goalless first half, Katie Hitchcock fired home, but Brownhills levelled with the last kick of the game and it went to extra-time. Megan Brindley and Danielle Harley increased the lead and Hannah Yousef scored on her debut to seal the victory.

The game ended with Kings bagging four, Oxley three, Jarvis two and Davey one. Player of the Match was Elizabeth Palmer.

CHASETOWN U13 GIRLS 12 BURNTWOOD PHOENIX 0

In this local derby reduced to nine-a-side, Phoenix were a player down and as a result Chasetown were able to dominate from the kick off.

Beth Hickman opened the scoring and ended up with a first half hat-trick with substitute Rhiannon Winwood also on the mark.

The second half saw Hickman notch another four, Winwood grabbing her second and Megan Dainty and Sarah Bennett also getting on the scoresheet for Chasetown's biggest win in four seasons. Player of the Match was Phoebe Langford.

HEDNESFORD UNITED U12 GIRLS 6 STAFFORD TOWN 0

Hednesford got off to a flier against a good Stafford side after just 48 seconds as Lois Brindley opened the scoring.

When the keeper made an excellent save to deny Kate Clinton, Brindley followed in to head home for her second and she popped up again two minutes before the break to make it 3-0 and complete her hat-trick.

Lana Titley got her reward on 28 minutes but it was left to Brindley to have the final word as she took her tally for the afternoon to five.

COLRON UNDER 14 GIRLS 0 HEDNESFORD UNITED 1

It was back to winning ways for Hednesford United Girls despite only playing with 10 players. A superb goal by Ellie Bilson just before half time separated the teams.

RUGELEY RANGERS GIRLS U15 5 STAFFORD TOWN GIRLS 1

This was a top v bottom tie to decide who progressed to the next round and it was the leaders Rugeley Rangers who got off the mark through Holly Meehan who later doubled the advantage.

Chelsea Stevens made it six goals from six appearances and Meg Farnall scored her first for the club. The u-15s continued to dominate the second half but only one more goal was scored, Georgia Tonks with her first for the club.

With the last kick of the game Stafford got a consolation.

RUGELEY RFC 13 BURNTWOOD RFC 12

RUGELEY welcomed Burntwood to Hagley fields for what became a very fast paced and at times a highly charged game of Rugby Union.

The home team started as they meant to go on, applying extreme pressure form the onset and creating an early penalty at the opposition's five-metre line.

Burntwood were finding it hard to hold back and

RUGELEY RUGBY

Rugeley's sustained pressure paid off when Nathan Homer scooped the ball right from under the nose of the opposition stand off to make an unstoppable run of 35 metres to the try line to make the score 10-0.

Burntwood, bruised by the onslaught, seemed to pull themselves together and responded with a try and conversion bringing the score to 10-7 at the interval.

The second half started with the visitors upping their game and causing Rugeley a little irritation but Mat Willisscroft's youngsters stepped up to the plate and were able to stem the flow with some superb play from Liam Morrison and Ade Yates with a combination of old and young working together to hold the opposition, Rugeley's forwards were by far superior.

But again the visitors upped their game and were able to penetrate the Rugeley defence with a run to the try line scoring right under the posts, though not able to convert the try, but taking the lead at 12-7.

Rugeley showed the visitors they were not beaten and were able to continue with a superb exhibition of set play and team play, culminating in fast-flowing play from Sam Howard and Ceiron Griffin.

With time fast running out for the home side, Rugeley never gave in causing Burntwood to buckle under the pressure conceding a penalty under the posts.

In the dying minutes, Rugeley were able to score another penalty bringing the score to 13-12 to Rugeley.

Coach Richard Simons said: "This is the standard of play I have strived for. I am very proud of each and every one of them"

Captain's men of the match were Nathan Homer and Tom Wilson.

RUGELEY U-15S 22 WALSALL U-15 36

Rugeley Youngsters welcomed Walsall RFC in a league game that started well for the hosts, but Walsall were able to come back despite a passionate and energetic performance from Rugeley.

Coach Carl Johnson said: "The boys played really well and will become an unstoppable and formidable team."

Vase progress is made

CANNOCK 43 TUPTON 21

UNBEATEN Tupton travelled to Cannock in the third round of the Junior Vase.

Cannock started the game with high hopes following a solid performance in the league the previous.

The visitors started much the sharper with quick and aggressive ruck ball allowing their classy fly half to spray passes and cross field kicks all over the park and before Cannock had got into their stride they were seven points down and only great maul defence stopped Cannock conceding a second early try.

Cannock eventually gained a handle on the game and Jukes offloaded to the supporting Alton who had a run in under the posts. Tupton, who looked dangerous with the ball, struggled to live with Cannock's speed of thought in attack.

Their only way to slow them down being through penalty infringements, which saw S. Pedley slot a penalty to make the score 10-7.

Tupton were to finish the half the stronger with a score out wide which was well converted for a a half-time lead of 14-10.

Tupton tried to absorb as much Cannock pressure as they could without snapping. Several of the visitors became more concerned with off the ball 'antics' than playing rugby.

CANNOCK RUFC

One such incident saw their back row scrabbling off the ball while Cannock's half backs were running wild down the blind side of a scrum for Pedley to dot down in the corner for an unconverted try.

Substitute MacDougall added a touch of class with clever kicks and incisive passing, from such a kick, deep into the opposition 22 Cannock stole a lineout ball and set up a driving maul, controlled by Gunter and as the pack drove over the line finally scored by Madsen. Further pressure led to a mistake from the Tupton backs which was picked up by Alton who was uncatchable in the race to the line.

With Yates' brain and Brookes' brawn in the centre, they seem to be developing a solid partnership. Brookes made a strong break holding off tacklers to offload to B. Stanaway who made further yards before feeding Madsen who was held up on the line, setting up a maul that was eventually grounded by substitute Shirley.

The final play of the game saw Tupton score a breakaway try round the outside of Cannock defence. Man of the match was Sonny Stanaway.

This weekend, Cannock travel to table-toppers Telford.

Harris strike keeps Cannock top

HOCKEY ROUND-UP

READING 1ST XI 0 CANNOCK 1ST XI 1

CANNOCK travelled to Reading sitting joint top of the National League Premier Division with a third of the season gone. They faced a Reading side who cruised to an 8-3 victory in this same fixture last season. However, this year is a different Cannock.

A victory for Cannock would secure a six-point lead over their opponents where as a victory for the home side would bring the two teams level on points.

As both sides exchanged periods of possession both goalkeepers remained untested, and scoreline remained goalless until five minutes before half-time when the ball came out to Dave Harris at the top of the D and with his first attempt at goal flicked the ball into the bottom left corner.

The second half saw Reading bring the game to Cannock as the home side looked to bring the game level. Cannock set-up in an organised fashion making life difficult for the home side, restricting them to as minimal time in the D as possible, and whenever Reading did manage to break the defence goalkeeper James Fair was on hand to keep the ball out of the net.

The result marks an amazing turn around considering last season's result against the same opponents. After seven games played Cannock remain joint top of the National League Premier Division on 16 points, already matching the number of points that were achieved in the whole of last season. This weekend sees Cannock travel to seventh placed Loughborough.

CANNOCK 4TH XI 2 STOURPORT 5TH XI 2

After five weeks at the top of the Ener-G Midland Hockey League Central Premier Division, Cannock 4ths took on Stourport 5ths, bottom of the league with no points and only one goal to their name.

Although several players had been promoted from their 4th team, you could be forgiven for thinking that this result was in the bag. However, this was mainly a tale of the Stourport right half who produced a magnificent display that saw him lob 40-50 metre aerials to alleviate the enormous pressure the Cannock press put on the Stourport side; launch a bullet drag flick into the roof of the net; score an equally fierce reverse shot from an acute angle; and make several penetrating runs into the Cannock D.

Cannock scored their first with a trademark 25-metre dribbling run from Lewis Round which he finished by slotting the ball into the far corner. Cannock's second was scored by short corner injector Andy Broome who deflected the return into the net. Cannock had the majority of play – probably 80-90 per cent in the second half – but couldn't get that final winning goal.

TELFORD & WREKIN 4TH XI 0 CANNOCK 5TH XI 5

Cannock 5ths were looking to extend their winning run and got off to a good start when skipper Karl Owen's penalty corner strike put them 1-0 up. The home side rallied but failed to create a clear-cut opportunity for which Owen made them pay with his second penalty corner goal.

The second half saw Cannock become more dominant. Another short corner could have resulted in a penalty stroke but the next corner eventually broke to Raff Moscatiello whose mis-hit cross found the roof of the net. A fine move saw Laurence Perry find Fergus Forsyth whose finish was only narrowly wide but he made no mistake with his next chance and Don Clark added a fifth as Cannock remain top of the North West 1 Division.

CANNOCK 6TH XI 3 NORTH STAFFORD 4TH XI 2

North Staffs started well and put pressure on the Cannock defence but couldn't get in the D. Cannock settled and started to play good hockey with plenty of chances but it was the visitors on the break that scored the two first half goals.

Cannock's Nick Bandurak, in white, challenges Andy Watts of Reading

From the first whistle of the second half Cannock were a different team. Dean Carmichael picked the ball up in the D and lobbed the keeper and Cannock were back in it. It was all Cannock at this point and Ian Morris diverted home the equaliser with 20 minutes left to play.

North Staffs didn't give up and it could have gone either way at the end. Cannock's Jonny Machin got on the end of another rocket and deflected into the goal to make it 3-2 to Cannock

CANNOCK 7TH XI 2 BARLASTON VINES XI 2

In a closely fought match Barlaston took an early lead. Cannock worked hard in reply but struggled to get into any real flow. By half time Barlaston had bagged another but Cannock replied well and in the second half were a different team, grabbing a goal from a well-executed short corner, converted by Ozzy Harris. Cannock continued to charge forward and Dean Carmichael equalised.

CANNOCK BADGERS 'B' XI 3 ASHBY BADGERS XI 1

Cannock Badger's B XI turned in an impressive performance to record their first win of the season. Cannock started strongly, passing the ball with confidence and advancing on the Ashby goal. Ashby were restricted to a few speculative efforts in the first half, with the well-drilled Cannock defence of Tom Beach, Callum Warren, Jordan Smith and Matt Burton working hard to force the Ashby errors.

Cannock capped an excellent first half performance with Lewis Michael combining well with Kyle Box to open up the Ashby defence and for Box to score Cannock's first goal. Cannock continued to defend resolutely and looked to push forward when they could. A quick break caught Ashby on the back foot, with some quick movement of the ball by Cannock Ashby were left exposed at the back, and Jack Rolfe added a second.

Ashby responded instantly by forcing and converting a penalty corner to reduce the deficit. However, Cannock drove forward and got behind the Ashby defence, enabling captain Jack Rolfe to add his second of the day to celebrate the birth of his new sister.

TAMWORTH LADIES 1ST XI 1 CANNOCK LADIES 2ND XI 3

Cannock Ladies 2nds travelled to Tamworth on Saturday afternoon. Cannock managed to get on the scoresheet first through Lucy Hammond. Mary Clark soon followed for Cannock with a reverse stick hit. Lauren Bradbury's deflection made it 3-0, but an unfortunate flick against Cannock meant the scoreline became 3-1. Goal keeper Tammy Haydon was player of the match.

CANNOCK LADIES 3RD XI 1 BLOXWICH LADIES 1ST XI 3

A Shannon Deakin goal proved little more than consolation Cannock Ladies 3rd team suffered their third straight defeat. Despite another game without picking up any points, coach Alex Hill had plenty to be happy about as the girls put in the required performance level being asked of them.

CANNOCK LADIES 4TH XI 1 PHOENIX BLUES 1ST XI 3

Cannock faced a mentally and physically challenging game against league leaders Phoenix Blues. The game brought four goals in total, three of which went to a victorious Phoenix Blues and one that went to a disappointed, yet proud Cannock, Chloe Edgington the scorer with Michelle Woodward and goal-keeper Keeley Read also obtaining plaudits.

KEELE UNIVERSITY LADIES 2ND XI 2 CANNOCK LADIES 5TH XI 0

Cannock travelled to Keele for a hard-fought match against a young, fit Keele side. Cannock dominated at times and were unlucky not to score. Keele scored their first goal through open play. Cannock held well in the second half through excellent defending but Keele were awarded a penalty stroke which was converted for their second goal.

Elsewhere Cannock Juniors were at Tesco Heath Hayes on Saturday (November 5), collecting money for their club helping them buy more playing equipment and enable the club to pay for competition entry fees. Huge generosity from customers saw the club raise £440.15p. The club would like to thank all those that donated and to Tesco for giving them the opportunity.

- For Lichfield, David Eastland and Tom Wilmot were the scorers as the Mens 4th team lost 3-2 to West Bridgford, while Jamie Carter's hat-trick was in vain as the 10th XI went down 4-3 to Cannock A.

Nicola Mills and Ellie Keating were on target as Lichfield Ladies 1sts beat Burton 2-0.

The Ladies 4th team got the better of Tamworth in an 11-goal thriller. Prue Nickson scored three in a 7-4 win, with braces for Emma Harper and Rachel Swailes.

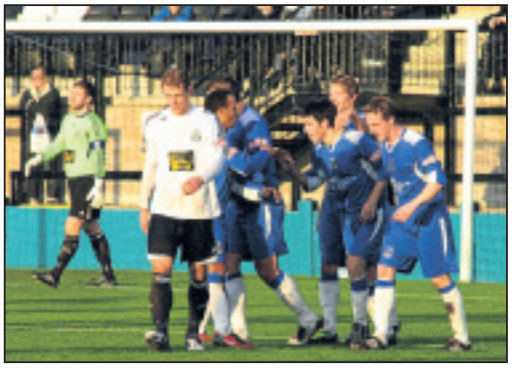
INSIDE: RUGELEY EDGE OUT RIVALS IN DERBY CLASH – RUGBY ON PAGE 95



Team-mates mob Mark Branch after his free-kick goal

10-man Gladiators hang on for replay to frustrate Pitmen

Chris Clements attempts to get things moving in midfield for the Pitmen

HEDNESFORD TOWN

HEDNESFORD TOWN 0 MATLOCK TOWN 0 – FA TROPHY SECOND QUALIFYING ROUND, SATURDAY NOVEMBER 5

HEDNESFORD Town were ultimately frustrated by a Matlock Town side who set up defensively and were content with a replay, having played the final 20 minutes with 10 men.

The Pitmen struggled to break down the Matlock barrier as the away side played one man up front and their other nine players behind the ball.

In a relatively quiet first half Gareth Davies forced Hednesford goalkeeper Dan Crane into an acrobatic save after three minutes with a long range shot and for the majority of the half the game was bogged down in a midfield battle.

Jay Denny was typically terrier-like in the centre of the pitch but Hednesford's creative players in the form of Elliott Durrell and Chris Clements were unable to pick the ball up in dangerous positions to supply a hard-working forward line of Gary Hay and, hat-trick hero from last Tuesday's 6-5 victory over Walsall, Marvin Robinson.

Elliott Durrell saw a rasping drive beaten away by Jon Kennedy for the home side in the 44th minute and Steve Warne wriggled free of Darren Campion to force Crane into a low save in stoppage time.

Hednesford started the second half on the attack with a succession of corners which placed concerted pressure on Matlock but Gary Hay, Pedro Monteiro and Elliott Durrell all failed to find the net with their attempts.

Kris Bowler received a second yellow for simulation on 67 minutes, which incensed the Matlock away support but the red card simply served to force the away sider to sit even deeper.

The Pitmen were then faced with an impenetrable wall of tangerine for the final 20 minutes as they struggled to make the extra man count.

Substitute Mark Danks was brought into the fray to assist with the siege of the Matlock goal and his tricky wing play and perfectly judged cross presented Robinson with a chance to score the winner but his header looped a foot over the bar with Kennedy standing still.

Nathan Joynes could have sensationally won the game for Matlock, heading over the bar from six yards but as stoppage time approached it was the home side who pushed hard for a winner.

Nick Wellecomme flicked a Danks shot straight at Kennedy, a long distance shot from Denny was straight at the goal keeper before, with the final kick, a Durrell free kick was blocked and the ball fell to Chris Clements who's left-footed volley shaved the outside of the post.

The replay was due to take place at Causeway Lane last night (Wednesday).

Meanwhile Hednesford return to league action on Saturday (November 12) when they travel to Derbyshire again to face Buxton.

Scholars left all at sea by Marine

MARINE 5 CHASETOWN 2 – FA TROPHY SECOND QUALIFYING ROUND, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 5

MARINE gained revenge for their recent league defeat by Chasetown as they ended the Scholars' FA Carlsberg Trophy campaign.

The second encounter between the two sides in as many Saturdays at the Arriva Stadium saw a fine fast-paced opening with several chances, Gary Birch heading a corner clear in the 10th minute before setting up Mark Hands at the other end for a volley which was charged down.

Marine took the lead in the 20th minute when Andy Fowler was allowed too much space and he turned to blast a right-footed shot past the diving Ryan Price.

The hard-working Price produced a trio of fine saves as Chasetown tried to fight back with Hands and Birch leading the attack alongside Danny Smith. In the 40th minute the equaliser came after Birch was fouled. Mark Branch took the free kick and the dead ball specialist sent his left-footed kick over the wall and into the net.

The score remained level for just two minutes, however, as a through ball split the Scholars' defence and Aaron Rey beat Price to the ball to restore Marine's lead. Two minutes after the break the Mariners were on target again when Chasetown failed to clear and the loose ball broke to winger Paul Lundon who smashed his shot into the roof of the net.

Manager Chris Brindley rang the changes for the Scholars soon after with a triple substitution and 10 minutes later the visitors pulled one back when Danny Smith latched onto a fine ball from Linden Dovey and fired a shot beyond keeper Ryan McMahon to make it 3-2.

Theo Robinson also went close for the Scholars following a corner but on 79 minutes the hosts made it four when Neil Harvey forced a cross from the left over the line.

Chasetown upped their tempo for one final effort but this led to gaps appearing at the back and with two minutes to go Harvey sent a ball over the defence allowing substitute Carl Gargan to add a fifth for the Mariners, and a fighting performance from the Scholars sadly went unrewarded.

Goalkeeper Price sees red as Romans march to semis

ROCESTER 3 CHASETOWN 1, STAFFORDSHIRE SENIOR CUP QUARTER FINAL

GOALKEEPER Ryan Price was sent off as Chasetown crashed out of the Staffordshire Senior Cup.

A fairly slow-paced start in slippery conditions saw the first chance go to the hosts with Price getting down low to save Chris Sterling's shot.

Jack Farmer was on hand to head out Rob Perks's free kick on 15 minutes, and a further free kick from Jack Langston was poked wide by Darren Bullock.

Chasetown penalty appeals were turned down when Levi Reid appeared to be pulled down when through on goal.

On 32 minutes the hosts took the lead when Price spilled a corner and the ball was headed home from close range with Mensah Kinch credited with the goal. The very first attack of the second half saw the Romans break forward and double their lead with Sterling curling home.

On 72 minutes Price brought down Sterling as he bore down on goal and a penalty was given with the keeper shown a red card despite the challenge appearing to be outside the area. Skipper and former Scholar Paul McMahon's kick just evaded the diving Matty Cohen, who had taken over between the sticks, and nestled in the corner of the net.

Chasetown pulled one back when Lee Wright sent in a cross from the left and Dovey was in position to tap home at the near post.

Chasetown face Ashton United in the Evo-Stik Northern Premier League this Saturday (November 12), kick off at 3pm.

HEATH HAYES FC

Hayes on the run in senior cup

HEATH HAYES 3 BOLDMERE ST MICHAELS 2

HEATH Hayes progressed to the next round of the Walsall Senior Cup with a victory which was rather more emphatic than the score would suggest.

Hayes started well and created plenty of chances but once more their finishing was erratic.

They took a deserved 33rd minute lead when Ben Haseley broke clear and superbly chipped the ball over the advancing keeper Sean Butler and into the net.

Two quick goals from Joe Smith and Levi Bailey put Mikes into the lead early into the second half as once more Hayes' vulnerability to defend crosses from the flanks was exposed.

However, Hayes came back strongly and Joe McNulty equalised with a tremendous drive from 20 yards.

McNulty then got the winner late on, converting a penalty after Dave Waple had been brought down.

On Saturday (November 12) a large crowd is expected when Gresley Rovers make their first ever visit to The Coppice Colliery Ground.

Lockmen's defence is prised open

HEATH HAYES 7 WILLENHALL TOWN 0

HEATH Hayes produced their own Bonfire Night fireworks with seven goals in the first 50 minutes against the Midland Alliance basement club.

The Lockmen were completely overrun by the pace of Ben Haseley and man of the match Dave Waple.

Things started badly for the visitors when skipper Jemiah Richards played the ball back to keeper James Fryer who stumbled while attempting his clearance and the ball trickled agonisingly into the net.

Waple then added two quick goals and Haseley also opened his account before Town produced their first worthwhile attack and it took a brilliant save from Adam Jenkins to deny Richards.

Waple notched two more before the break as the home side continued to dominate and Haseley bagged his second and his side's seventh on 50 minutes before being replaced by Ian McMath making his home debut.

To their credit, Willenhall, heartily encouraged by their band of loyal supporters, never gave up and rallied well with a second half performance of grit and determination so much lacking in the first half.
